RESERVE BOARD UNDER FIRE FOR CURB ON MONEY

Bid Sees It Ally of European Banks.

ST. ARTHUR CRAWFORD,
Chicago Tribune, Press Service
Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special]
Federal reserve board policies are under fire today in the new congress, of stock market activities.

Alleges upon the board were made by Representatives Frank R. Reid
(Ill.) and Loring M. Black (D., N. Y.) in speeches in the house. Representative Reid offered a resolution for appointment of a committee of nine to investigate the administration of the federal reserve and the influence of European financial interests.

Representative Black defended speculative Black defended speculations on the New York exchange and insisted there was no reason for alarm on account of greatly expanded operations.

He asserted that the federal reserve board was injuring business by attempting to curb speculations on the board, according to Mr.
Reid, in invading its powers under the new law.

Winds Defenders.

Members of the house joined in the debate following Reid and Black. Representative Luce (Rep., Mass.)
said board, as did Representative Strang (Rep., Kas.), had the occasion to advocate which directs the federal reserve to use its powers in prior legislation. Representative Wingo (Dem., Ark.), minority member of the banking and currency committee, approved the proposal for an extension.

Held Assails Survey.

House resolution was referred to a committee, which is one few committees organized in current session. It is regarded as likely, however, that the committee will take favorable action.

Representative Held asserted that resolution should be adopted and insist upon a thorough investigation of the activities and policies of the federal reserve system in the ten years which have followed World War.

American people are entitled not only what has been done by the reserve system in relation to our foreign finance, but also have a clear explanation of the reasons for such action," said Mr.

STORE BOMBED IN BLACK HAND EXTORTION PLOT

Two dynamite bombs, believed by police to have been exploded by a Black Hand gang when their demands for money were refused, last night wrecked the front of a grocery store and meat market at 2535 West 35th street, breaking windows in the vicinity and causing damage estimated at $1,000.

Two Italian families, Michael De Salvo and his wife and Adolph Santangelo, his wife and three children, who live above the store, were thrown from their beds by the explosion, which occurred shortly before 10:30 o'clock, but were uninjured. The Italians had received Black Hand letters two months ago demanding $5,000, and later $6,000, and had been accorded police protection. The guard was withdrawn, however, when no effort was made to carry out the threats contained in the letters.

Last week $1,000 had been demanded by a mysterious telephone caller, De Salvo told Lieut. Frank Stevens of the Brighton Park police last night, but the Italians had hesitated to call the police again. No further communications had been received until the bombs exploded.

The letters, police said, were written in long hand and were signed only with the Black Hand symbol used by Italian and Sicilian gangs in their exortion plots. Both of the victims of the bombing claimed that they knew of no person or ring whom they suspected.

in a case arising out of the civil war, an "indestructible status."

"As the resolution has to do primarily with the restoration to Illinois of the inherent rights of which it has been deprived, only passing reference will be made to individual liberty. It is enough to say that the individual's right to absolute self-control cannot be taken away by government as long as he remains competent."

"It cannot put him in any trouble until he has lost his mind. It cannot appoint a guardian until mind has been made manifestly incompetent. It cannot appoint a conservator of his property without showing him to be a spendthrift or to be otherwise in need of help. It cannot imprison him until it proves that he committed a crime. It cannot control his appetite until he has lost control of himself."

Call for Vote of People.

Speaking of state rights, the speaker recommended that an amendment like the eighteenth should have been submitted to the people rather than approved merely by their state legislatures.

"First," he said, "the amendment was restricted to intoxicating liquors and the states ratified that and nothing more. But, as Justice Clarke stated, congress promptly usurped control of nonintoxicating beverages in violation of the proposal and the acceptance by Illinois."

"Second, the amendment was restricted to intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes and the ratification of the states were limited to that. But congress promptly usurped control of liquors for medicinal purposes."

"The states are the victims of deceit. While the congress may not have intended at first all that has resulted, the propagandists who held the liquor禁令 did. They had a set and constant purpose to secure an amendment which would be ruthless in its operation and irrevocable by the states. It has been followed by usurpations by congress, unconstitutional searches and seizures, denial of trial by jury, and a truculent abusing of the citizen."

Authorizes Committee of 7.

The McCarthy-Petit resolution authorized Senator David E. Shanahan to appoint a committee of seven to investigate the slaying of Mrs. De King in the family home on the outskirts of Aurora. Representative Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin, a part of the Aurora district, insisted that a "peculiar set of circumstances" requires the investigation.

"Dry people of our district want to know the truth about this case. The committee ought to go up there. And give the facts to the world, let the chips fall where they may."

"Never in the palmy days of Williamson county," said Representative Grover M. Borders of East St. Louis, "was there a murder more heinous than this."

"I don't see how there can be any opposition to this resolution," Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe declared. "The state's attorney has disqualifed himself. The attorney general has backed away from it and, in appointing two special state's attorneys, the court says they shall not go into the grand jury room."

Call It Challenge to Decency.

"I hear of relationships between this man and that; but whatever the truth of reports that the local officials are trying to hide behind a screen, they are ducking and trying to hide in the shadows the facts about the cruellest murder ever committed in the state of Illinois. What is a challenge to the decent of Illinois?"

CARBARY SAYS HE WELCOMES ASSEMBLY QUIZ

Has Nothing to Hide in De King Case.

"I certainly have nothing to conceal and will welcome an investigation by the legislature," said State's Attorney George D. Carbary of Kane county when he learned of the adoption yesterday of a resolution sponsored by Representative Frank McCarthy to have a legislative committee investigate the circumstances of the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King during a dry raid on her home in Aurora. Prosecutor Carbary and Representative McCarthy both live in Elgin.

I want to remind the people of Kane county that Frank McCarthy, during the primary of last year, won one of my most important political enemies," Carbary continued.

"We still have the situation in Kane county in hand and it will not be necessary to call out any troops."

Prior to the De King affair Representative McCarthy sat in my office and told me he approved of my law enforcement policies and that if every state's attorney would enforce the prohibition laws modification would come quicker.

Will Continue His Drive.

The coroner made an extensive investigation of the killing of Mrs. De King and the grand jury will do the same when it meets April 25. Meanwhile I will continue to enforce the law."

The dry crusader of Kane county issued a denial of a report that gained circulation in Elgin to the effect that since the killing of Mrs. De King he was afraid to live at home but stayed at a hotel and had a bodyguard constantly with him. He would not comment on the statement of Representatives Michael Igoe, Thomas McGrady, and others who condemned enforcement tactics in use in Kane county.

Can't Reach Judge.

Circuit Judge John K. Newhall, who was the subject of discussion at Springfield, could not be reached last night for his views on the legislative investigation.

Attorney Arthur Shay, counsel for Eugene Boyd Fairchild, the dry snooper charged with perjury because of his affidavit that sent dry raiders to the De King home, protested yesterday about delays in the hearing of the case. He urged the circuit court to rule that he be heard today but Shay said he had been advised of continuance would be asked and he said he thinks "there is something peculiar" about the prosecution, which is now in charge of Prosecutor Carbary.

TEXAS GUINAN'S CLUB HITS BACK AT POLICE, GETS KICK FROM REAR

New York, April 17.—[Special] Supreme Court Justice Henry L. Sherman tonight came to the rescue of the proprietors of the Club Intime in the Hotel Harding, where "Tige" Guinan is hostess, which was raided by the order of Commissioner Whalen late Tuesday night.

Judge Sherman signed an "order to show cause" which directs the defendant whom Miss Guinan's lawyer, Maxwell Lopin, named as Commissioner Whalen, the police department, and William F. Quigley, commissioner of licenses—to appear tomorrow morning before Supreme Court Justice Edward P. Gavagan.

The question which will be argued is whether or not the Club Intime can legally operate without a cabaret license. Since it occupies quarters in a hotel, Mr. Lopin claims it is.

Meanwhile, the Club Intime sustained two more attacks which came, as it were, from the rear. Andrew J. Kerwin, president of the West Side Hotel corporation, owners of the Hotel Harding, asserted that he was the target of torch songs, on charge of being a "nigger," last spring at the Helen Moran Summer Home.

There were four prints of mineral water in the government's exhibit, but nobody paid any attention to them.

The wine and liqueur, according to testimony of Lon H. Tyson, the prohibition gentleman known to Miss Morgan as "Old Pie Face," were bought but not paid for one night last June, when he and his comrades were whooping it up in the Morgan club.

Upald Bill is Evidence.

The reason they were not paid for, Mr. Tyson reluctantly explained, was that Helen Morgan's place was raided three very night and he could find nobody willing to pay the bill. He seized the bill to show, said he, when it came to the second day of the trial of Helen Morgan, former night club hostess and singer of torch songs, on charge of being a nigger, last spring at the Helen Moran Summer Home.

Tyson was the witness for the government's exhibit.

Miss Morgan took time out to grant an interview.

"No," she said in a crooning little voice, "I haven't given any thought to what I'll do in jail, because I am not going. I'm all dressed up for the summer and I am afraid I will have to disappoint the government."

CHAMPAGNE AT MORGAN TRIAL, BUT NOT TO DRINK

Jury Can Only Look at Expensive Evidence.

BY TOM PETTEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, April 17.—[Special]

Two quarts of champagne and a pint of rye whisky in a ginger ale bottle occupied the attention of the jury, the judge, two lawyers, and a crowded federal courtroom this afternoon on the second day of the trial of Helen Morgan, former night club hostess and singer of torch songs, on charge of being a nigger, last spring at the Helen Moran Summer Home.

There were four prints of mineral water in the government's exhibit, but nobody paid any attention to them.

AMERICANS BROUGHT ALLIES VICTORY, SAYS FOCH IN BIOGRAPHY

PARIS, April 17.—[U.P.]—A controversy which split France's political and military leaders in the early post-war period rose to the surface again today with the publication of the first posthumous biography of Marshal Ferdinand Foch in which the late allied generalissimo is quoted as bitterly attacking Georges Clemenceau, wartime premier. The book was compiled by Raymond Recouly.

"Only the arrival of the Americans permitted us to win the war," Foch told Recouly.

Foch contended that France lost the advantage of victory by abandoning the French claim to the left bank of the Rhine. He said Clemenceau was "stubborn" and refused to consider the demands of Raymond Poincaré and Foch that France seize the left bank of the Rhine. Clemenceau plans to answer Foch's charges.

Miss Morgan took time out to grant an interview.

GARDEN POOHS HER AMARILLO OPERA CRITICS

Says She's Going Back to Sing Them to Shame.

Notwithstanding Editor Gene Howe's "other stupid citizens" of Amarillo, Tex., Mary Garden is going back to the town in the Panhandle next season with the Chicago Civic Opera company and sing her critics to shame. The slightly soprano declared her art, caring critics and small town culture in an interview in New York yesterday. She laughed at reports of revolt against her in Chicago music circles, abjured the title of operatic eminence with "Boosh" and graciously conceded that Amarillo has some nice people, too.

Garden's concession to Amarillo comes while Amarillo merchants are devoting to stop payment on a check they had forwarded to production costs and a deficit incurred by the Chicago Opera company producing "Thais" there last summer.

Editor Howe declared the opera was born out for the small town circuit, but he failed to reckon with his competitor's experience.

"Let's see, it's been 22 years since I left in 'Thais' in the Manhattan Opera house under Hammerstein," Miss Garden reminisced. "We knew something was wrong and finally we saw some in the last act which was dramatic but no musical.

Composer Approves Change.

"In Europe, I told Hammerstein, what had been done and agreed we were right. The scene never been presented in any American production since that time, to my knowledge. And that's the omission I have in 'Thais' now.

"Of course, I won't sue these Amarillo people for the $1,500 deficit," Miss Garden announced. "But I'll see you all again next season. I'm going right back there and sing for you again next season. I am singing.

The civic opera management conbated both statements of the star.

"I can't sue, it was said, because she didn't want her concern; and she went back to Amarillo next year because a contract was signed and the schedule called for an appearance there."

She'll Be Delighted.

"We know, there are no classes of people who like nice people and good music," Miss Garden observed. "It's made up mostly of nice people. They're charming. And I am delighted to sing for them again!"

"I do know—this Mr. Howe doesn't know music."

"I believe that she had wielded influence among her associates in the company and that several other artists were induced to agree with Mr. Howe's criticism," wrote a voice-recruited Miss Garden in her son's name.

"I have no voice or management of the company," the director. "I'm only a paid

MANDITS CAUGHT IN 8 MINUTES BY W-G-N FLASH

Nine minutes after they had looted the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. John Dent, 3053 Exchange avenue, last night, William Kirach, 25 years old, and Jean Hill, 18 years old, both of Elkhorn, Ind., were in custody at the Elkhorn police station. An alarm broadcast through W-G-N to roving squads and district headquarters resulted in their capture by a team of motorcycle policemen just before they reached the Indiana line via Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dent had been away all evening, but their 18-year-old daughter, Adele, was at home until about 10 minutes before the burglars broke in. Miss Dent's sweetheart, Edward Dent, 18249 Avenue H, called about 8 o'clock and drove her around the block to a movie, but the bill wasn't attractive, so the girl and young man returned to the apartment just as the burglars reached down the steps to drive away. Miss Dent caught the names and number of the fleeing car.

Within a few minutes, Police Captain Campbell and James Keene, lured the robbers over W-G-N.

BROKERS SUED FOR 2 MILLIONS BY TITLED SCOTS

Charge Chicago Firm with Fraud.

A coterie of titled Scottish investors and other persons of prominence in Edinburgh—495 all—yesterday filed suit in the United States District court against Peabody, Houghteling & Co., investment security dealers at 10 South La Salle street, charging misrepresentation of $2,666,500 worth of bonds sold them.

At the request of attorneys for the Scots, Federal Judge James J. Walker entered a temporary order restraining the investment house, one of the oldest in this part of the country, from disposing of its assets, except in the regular course of business, and continued the matter until this morning, when Attorney Charles H. Watson, for the company, will seek to have the order set aside. The suit itself will not be heard until later in the spring.

Boston Suit Dismissed.

A similar lawsuit filed in Boston recently was dismissed yesterday, according to Attorney Watson, who said he believed the Boston court there refused to hear it on grounds of improper jurisdiction. Boston is the location of the New England Oil Refining company, which issued the bonds referred to in both suits.

According to Attorney Edward A. Zimmerman, who filed the Chicago suit, his clients purchased the bonds described as 8 per cent gold, series A, in the belief that they constituted the sum of $10,000 shares of oil land in Venezuela, South America. The value of the land, the suit documents, was set at $5,000,000.

"Certain representations were made by Peabody, Houghteling & Co. at the time which they knew to be false," the language of the suit states. In reply to that, Attorney Watson declared there was "no false representation made," but he refused to say anything further until the hearing this morning. The New England Oil Refining company, he said, had been in the hands of receivers since last fall.

Third Buyers Listed.

Heading the list of the plaintiffs is Sir David Paulin of Edinburgh. Others whose names bear titles and the amount of bonds each bought are:

Lady Felicia Mary Dallas, Edinburgh, $2,500.

Rear Admiral Leonard Andrew Boyd Donaldson, Southsea, $5,000.

Sir Robert Stodart Lorimer, Edinburgh, $75,000.

William Milligan, Manchester, $10,000.

Lady Helen Kinner Brown Seymour Lloyd, Tunbridge Wells, $10,000.

POWERS REJECT RUSSIAN PLAN TO DISARM WORLD

Fight Red Scheme to Set Definite Figures.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

GENEVA, April 17.—A grave for the interment of the soviet Russian disarmament project was dug today and the burial is expected tomorrow, when the league of nations preparatory disarmament conference takes a vote.

Maxim Litvinov, acting commissar for foreign affairs, battled all day, exhorting the delegates of the twenty-eight powers represented to accept the soviet scheme, which provides for reducing armaments one-half, a third or a fourth, according to the present military strength and various categories of the countries, but all in vain.

Peabody and Company were pinch-hitting occasionally in an effort to aid their Red colleagues, but Japan and France attacked the plan as impractical, urging the commission to return to the original Anglo-French draft of 1927.

Opposes Soviet Figures.

The crux of the battle centered on the Russian principle of establishing definite figures on the number of effectives and the amount of material for the armies, navies and air forces, as against the conservative idea of merely seeking an agreement on broad general lines as recommendations for some future plenary disarmament conference which should fix the amounts and numbers and all in the details and particular.

The Moscow plan provides for establishing coefficients for several categories of the nations based on size, population, geographical position and present forces.

Woman Shot as She Celebrates Wet's Victory

The so-called wet or Citizens' ticket beat the drys by three votes at Tuesday's election in South Chicago Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kaiser, among the staunchest supporters of George Hahn, the new village president, started celebrating soon after the result was known. They were still drinking toasts to victory yesterday at the Kaiser home at 3011 Commercial avenue. About 3:30 p. m. Mrs. Kaiser decided to dignify the occasion by shooting off her husband's .38 caliber pistol. With a bullet in her chest she was reported near death last night in St. James hospital Chicago Heights.

Protection for Civilians.

Court Jethana, Bernstorff of Germany emphasized the need in a future war of protecting the civilian populations from airplane bombs, superpower range artillery and other newly developed weapons of the great war.

At the afternoon session no one wanted to discuss the soviet plan, so it was voted to adjourn the meeting on account of sympathy and form a debate.

When that failed, the Red commissioners asked the chairman to take a vote, at which every delegation would give the reason why it accepted or rejected the Moscow plan.

It was decided to ballot tomorrow, but J. Loudon, Dutch minister to Paris, and president of the disarmament conference, explained that he cannot force the delegates to make explanations if they do not want to.

He announced that it was evident that a big majority of the conference was opposed to accepting the soviet Normal avenue, a painter, was instantly killed and his companion, Joseph Horner, 29 years old, 142 West 108th street, was injured when the truck in which they were riding was struck yesterday by an Illinois Central suburban train at an unguarded crossing at 131st street and Normal avenue. Both died at the 1929 Cook county mortuary at 264th.

Harold Monroe, 4 years old, was possibly fatally injured when the auto in which he was riding with his mother, Mrs. Mary Monroe, 30 years old, 7971 La Fayette avenue; Miss Frances Schreiber of the same address and Miss Jean Berthel, 7505 Calumet avenue, was struck by a truck driven by Marshall Gormer, 1415 North Washburn avenue, at 75th street and Prairie avenue.

Edgar Nauman, 3 years old, 104 Lincoln avenue, Riverdale, was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Silvie Peretti 143 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, at Woodside road and Lincoln avenue, Riverside. He was taken to the West Suburban hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull.

CHICAGO GROUP IN HOUSE TO REPORT ON "L" HIGHWAY

Project Referred After Opponents Are Heard.

BY CARL WARREN.

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—[Special]—Before a crowd which jammed the committee room, sponsors and enemies of the plan for a referendum on the proposed construction of a $30,000,000 elevated highway on the west side of Chicago's west side by the west park board, battled to a temporary draw today before the house municipalities committee.

At the end of the hearing, the second which has been held, the matter was referred to a subcommittee to be composed of Chicago members who represent the west side and those who are lawyers. The subcommittee probably will hold hearings in Chicago.

Task for Committee.

The specific task of the subcommittee will be to bring in a recommendation of the bill introduced by Representative Edward M. Overland to permit the park board to submit to the people of the park district a $20,000,000 bond issue to finance the project. With the money, if voted, the board proposes to construct a double-decked boulevard extending from the loop to Oak Park, serving the west side, great, through traffic artery, comparable with the drives along the lake shore.

The supporters of the bill, led by Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the park board, tonight were confident the sub committee will bring in a favorable recommendation as the attitude of the committee members apparently has been friendly, despite the opposition by certain outside groups.

Opponents' Day at Hearings.

Today was the opponents' day for speech making, the proponents having spoken at the last meeting.

The chief objectors who appeared were Manuel Goldberg, representing the greater Robey Street Property Owners' association, and two other groups; Guy Cramer, West Central association; Raymond A. Sweeney, the Fulton Street market, and J. L. Gray, president of Guiney's Paradise ballroom and planning to speak for a Crawford avenue association.

Opposition to the bill, as drawn, also was voiced by Douglas Sutherland of the civic federation, and Harris Koeder of the bureau of public efficiency.

Most of the objections of the civic spokesmen were to the effect that an elevation street would put a "Chinese wall" through the west side, carrying through nonstop traffic, which would ruin business.

Attack Wacker Drive.

"We don't believe in elevated highways," declared Mr. Cramer. "We have enough of these Chinese walls now. The lower levels are dark and gloomy and the upper levels catch all the gasoline fumes."

"Do you mean to say you don't think Wacker drive is a wonderful improvement?" demanded Representative W. H. A. Johnson.

"Yes," Cramer replied. "Go down underneath it and see for yourself."

"You don't want traffic relief on the west side, is that it?" Mr. Overland asked him.

Mr. Cramer finally admitted that the West Central association would like to have the improvement along Congress street instead of Fulton, which is favored by Dr. Robertson. When Representative Overland reminded him that Congress street would cost the taxpayers more than $100,000, he had no reply.

See Curb on Business.

Mr. Guyon and Mr. Goldberg both contend that an elevated highway would only boost taxes and hurt business, while Mr. Sweeney merely stated that the market owners opposed it on the latter ground.

The objections of Mr. Sutherland and Mr. Koeder were directed at the way that the bill is drawn. They declared that it is "loose" and "indefinite" and that the park board plans should submit a definite route, plans and specifications.

"The best answer to all of this," asserted Dr. Robertson, "is the referendum clause. All we propose to do is to permit the people of the west side—the taxpayers if you please—decide for themselves whether they think this great improvement. These gentlemen say they represent such

SANITARY DISTRICT BONDING BILL PASSED BY SENATE, 27 TO 11

(By A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., April 17.—[Special]—After a brief debate in which Senator Harry W. Starr, a Lundin follower, made bitter attack on the hold-over members of the board, the state senate tonight passed the Chicago sanitary District bonding bill by a vote of 27 to 11.

Senator James J. Barbour of Evansville, in calling up the bill, explained that it had been referred to the bone, that it had been limited to the issuance of $40,000,000 in bonds strictly confined to the purposes required by the federal government and that the nonreferendum power expires at the end of 1931.

All of the Cook county senators present except Starr voted for the bill. There also was comment that down-staters anxious to cut down the river pollution that injures their territory were for the bonds.

The possibility arises from two questions:

DRY RAIDERS SENT TO PRISON FOR KILLING MAN

Other Members of Search Party Acquitted.

Peoria, Ky., April 17.—[Special.]—Roy V. Miller, former prohibition agent of Hopkinsville, and Jim Fox and Clarence Gossett, deputy sheriffs of Christian county, were given two year penitentiary terms in the federal court here today for the killing of Paul Sears in a dry raid in Hopkinsville in 1926.

The defendants were raiding moonshiners' stills when they came upon Mrs. and Mrs. John Fulkerston in a saloon at Daniel Boone. Miller said he showed his credentials and Sears consented to search. The three officers entered and found that Sears then fled, turning and pointing a pistol at them, whereupon Gossett and Miller fired at him. The prosecution contended that he was unarmed.

Tried in Federal Court.

The men were indicted in Hopkinsville and the case was transferred to the Hopkins Circuit court to go to federal court. Commonwealth's Attorney John L. Grayson conducted the prosecution and United States District Attorney Sparks and James J. Breathitt, Sr., of Hopkinsville, represented the defendants.

Preliminary instructions were given for the acquittal of Roy Young and James Armstrong, others in the raiding party.

Miller and Gossett said that they shot Sears when he pointed his pistol directly at them, holding it over his own arm. He was shot nine times in all.

"Impossible" Position Claimed.

Miller said that he was near the front of the tent with the rest of the posse at the rear when he heard somebody cry "Stop! Stop!" The men followed in a rapid succession of shots, he said, and he turned to see Sears in a half leaning position about 10 steps away with his pistol pointed directly toward him.

"I was sure that he was going to fire on me, and I shot," Miller declared.

The commonwealth contended that 2 men had been in the position which Miller, Gossett, and others described. It would have been impossible for him to have been shot in the back.

Police Head Summoned.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—[Special.]—John C. Rutherford, police chief, has been summoned to appear before the United States grand jury tomorrow for questioning in connection with the Belle Isle police run riot.

He will be questioned regarding charges that Capt. Joseph A. Burkholder of the harbor division has been giving out shooting liquor running on the island.

Two former border patrolmen found guilty of accepting bribes from rum.

BUNDESEN TAKES UP DEFENSE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Homes to Blame for Few Who Slip, He Says.

The great body of Chicago's school children are clean and wholesome, untouched by immorality or drinking, the products of good homes, and potential good citizens, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen last night told the Parent-Teachers' association of the Armstrong Elementary school at 2211 Este Avenue.

"I have told you something of drinking and of immorality among school children," the coroner said. "I have nothing to do with your bad cases with which it has not been my duty to deal. But I do not wish to be understood as even implying that drinking or immorality is common among our school children."

"There are thousands upon thousands of fine, clean children from fine, clean homes in our public schools. As a matter of fact, only about one in one thousand of the children goes wrong. One-tenth of one per cent—a pretty small number on the whole."

Jury Will Report Today.

While the coroner was making his speech he was looking forward to the report of a coroner's jury of distinguished men which is sitting in the inquest into the death of George Lux, 24 years old, who was killed last Sunday morning following a roadhouse bender party in which three school girls were involved, along with twelve others. The inquest is to be made at 2:30 p. m. today when the jury meets in the coroner's office.

Referring in his talk to the girls involved in the Lux case, Coroner Bundesen said that a deeper inquiry would reveal that not one of them came from a home which was entirely blameless for the conduct.

"The whole trouble is you can't legislate morality into the soul of a child," Dr. Bundesen said. "The most important thing is that the parents themselves lead clean lives. If they do not and the children from a tender age see the evidences of it all around them—as too frequently happens—what can you expect of the children?"

Put Blame on Mother.

"The case which I am now investigating, in which a jury of educators, schools superintendents and college professors, is sitting, is one of the most pitiful in this respect that has ever come to my attention. I have received a letter from a neighbor of one of the girls involved. It advised me to look into the home life of the girl and admonished me that I will be astonished if I will do so."

The coroner quoted from the letter.

"It says that the mother of this particular girl has always been a heavy drinker," he asserted, scanning the massive. "It says that she is seldom if ever sober."

"The mother," he quoted, "has always allowed boozers bounds to frequent her home—and that's the home environment of this poor child."

At this point the coroner turned to the audience of his audience, fathers, mothers and young children who sat in the hall, listening intently to his talk.

Must Face Responsibility.

"It comes up to you fathers and mothers to know what your children are doing, where they are going for their diversion and pleasure, and how they are obtaining their enjoyment. I am the father of six children and I know, what I am talking about. If you fail to provide your children with a guiding hand, where are they to go?"

"At this point the coroner turned to the audience of his audience, fathers, mothers and young children who sat in the hall, listening intently to his talk.

Describes Brands of Poisons.

He switched the subject of the brands of poison that is drunk nowadays.

"I don't know how many samples I have analyzed in the last few years," he went on. "But 98 per cent of them contained poisonous wood alcohol. I venture to say that every sample was a derivative of dead wood. I have seen the most terrible cases. The rats love the sugar that goes into the making of moonshine. The vapors overcome them. They fall in and float there. And that is the kind of stuff these children on these parties are drinking."

Action against drinking and immorality among school children came from two other sources yesterday. The student council of the Lane Technical High School adopted a code of ethics calculated to awaken in the pupils a sense of the degradation in drinking and in other dishonorable acts, and Edward J. Tolka, superintendent of schools, issued a set of statements, in which he declared the Volstead law is responsible for all the present day drinking among young people.

LAKE DIVERSION HEARINGS TO GO OVER TILL FALL

Postponement Agreed To
by Both Sides.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special]—The Supreme court's final decree setting the date when the diversion of water for sanitary purposes at Chicago must be halted will not be entered until next fall.

This became known today, when counsel for the Chicago sanitary district and the allied lake states now opposing any water diversion at Chicago agreed to postpone until September the conclusion of the hearings before Charles Evans Hughes, the special master appointed by the court to frame the decree.

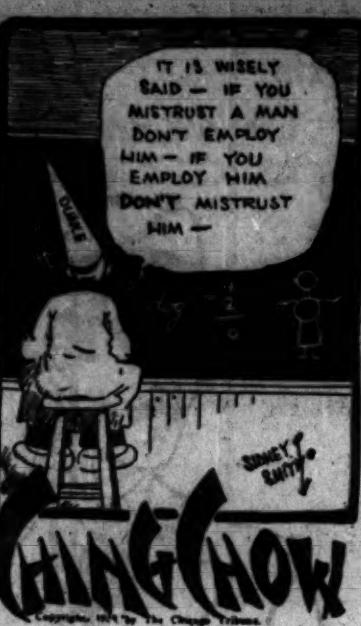

As a result of the decision today, which was concurred in by Mr. Hughes, the hearings will be adjourned tomorrow afternoon until Sept. 22, when opposing counsel will present their final arguments.

City May Enter Case.

If the Supreme court permits, the city of Chicago will also present witnesses at that time to show the disastrous effects the loss of the water diversion would have on the city's health and finances. The city has applied for the privilege of entering the case as a defendant.

The decree which Mr. Hughes has been asked to frame will set the date when Chicago sewage treatment plants must be completed so that water diversion from Lake Michigan can be halted. The decree will also set the amount of water, if any, which Mr. Hughes believes should be allowed to flow through the Chicago river for navigation purposes.

The decision to postpone the hear-

BILL TO SPEED ST. LAWRENCE PLAN IN HOUSE

Would Offer Canada Full
Co-operation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special]—A joint resolution expressing the readiness of the United States government to cooperate with Canada in steps to speed construction of the great lakes-St. Lawrence waterway was proposed in the house today by Representative Clarence J. McLeod [Rep., Mich.]

Beginning with the appointment of the Canadian commission which visited Washington in 1914 the resolution reviewed the history of agitation for the project, which finally culminated in the appointment in 1919 of the international joint commission to study the undertaking.

Praises Preparations.

"The several official reports, both engineering and economic," the resolution continued, "represent the culmination of eight years of careful international preparation under the responsibility of administrations representing the different political parties in each country, and is an outstanding example of modern 'open diplomacy' . . . It is well within the truth to say that the solution of no international problem has ever in any region of the world received more careful or responsible preparation."

Witnesses Disagree.

F. H. Waring, chief sanitary engineer of the Ohio department of health, and Darwin W. Townsend, consulting engineer at Milwaukee, were the principal witnesses at today's hearings. Waring testified that, in his opinion, after the sewage treatment program is put through and filtration plants built, Chicago should have better drinking water in 1935 than is present, even with diversion halted.

Mr. Townsend said that if the water diversion from Lake Michigan is halted untreated sewage would flow into Lake Michigan in time of storm. He said that the Chicago water supply would become steadily worse as the population gets larger if diversion is stopped.

advantages to manufacturing interests in the interior of North America." Mr. McLeod's resolution would have congress declare that it is the policy of the United States government to preserve and promote friendly commercial intercourse between Canada and the United States, and to the end that both countries may be mutually and increasingly prosperous, the government of the United States hereby expresses its readiness to proceed with the development of the great lakes-St. Lawrence waterway as soon as the government of Canada signifies its approval."

KENNEDY SUES SIGN CO. HEAD ON SLANDER CHARGE

Michael J. Kennedy, commissioner of gas and electricity, yesterday filed a $100,000 slander suit in the Superior court against Erwin Wagner, president of the Wagner Sign Service company. The suit is an answer to that filed by Wagner, who charged Commissioner Kennedy with racketeering to give business to the White Way Sign Service company.

Several weeks ago Wagner obtained a injunction against him through his attorney, Joseph E. Fleming, of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin, restraining Kennedy and the business agents of the Motion Picture Operators' Union from interfering with his business. He charged the commissioners with threatening theater owners with unnecessary inspections unless they diverted their patronage to the White Way company.

Commissioner Kennedy denies that he received a month's gross receipts for each contract so won. He disclaims all knowledge of the White Way company and asks damages for defamation of his character.

Witnesses Disagree.

The resolution points out that a deep water route from Lake Michigan to the sea by way of the St. Lawrence river will not only "offer the greatest permanent benefit to American agriculture," but will also be "equally

POLICE ARREST MAXIE EISEN ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Maxie Eisen, self-appointed boss of the Fulton street fish market, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault to murder brought by David Walcott, a small fish dealer. His bond was fixed by Judge Daniel P. Trudeau at $5,000 and the warrant was made returnable today in the new Colony courtroom.

Eisen, strong-armed business agent of the Chicago Retail Fish Dealers' association, is alleged to have slugged Walcott on the head with the butt of a pistol for trying to operate a small store at 245 North Western avenue without paying dues to the association. Eisen is under investigation in this case brought by Mrs. Mamie Oberlander, another fish dealer, charging him with participating in a conspiracy to injure her business.

FOES OF HARDY WAIVE RIGHT TO CALL ON AIMEE

Case Against Judge to Be Completed Shortly.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 17.—[Special.]—If the Rev. Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson goes on the stand in the senatorial impeachment trial of her friend, Superior Judge Carlos Hardy of Los Angeles, in order to tell her version of her 1926 disappearance from Los Angeles, she must do it as a defendant. The prosecution today waived all right and desire to her testimony.

Mrs. McPherson was to have been a witness tomorrow. Instead the prosecution, which is led by five state assemblymen, forecast the conclusion of its evidence in another day or two.

The prosecution is pressing four charges against Judge Hardy, each of them originating in some way from the judge's friendliness and assistance given to Mrs. McPherson, who was endeavoring to obtain public acceptance of her story that she had been kidnapped and carried into Mexico.

Most of today's session was given over to completion of Mrs. Minnie Kennedy's 26-page deposition, which she gave to the Senate Select Committee on Crime two weeks ago. A number of details were bared about happenings at the time Mrs. McPherson's kidnapping story was being investigated by the Los Angeles grand jury of 1926, in the light of reports which had Almee at Carmel, Cal., with Kenneth Ormiston, while Mrs. McPherson placed her own whereabouts in a kidnap shack in the Mexican desert.

Hardy a "Spiritual Father."

Rex Hardy, son of the accused Judge, and his chief counsel, questioned Mrs. Kennedy during the taking of the deposition, as follows:

Q.—What was his attitude toward you and Mrs. McPherson and the temple during the period of your stay? A.—He seemed to be a good spiritual father.

Q.—Did Judge Hardy advise you that Mrs. McPherson should consent to go before the Judge and testify?

A.—I believe he did.

Q.—Did you ever hear him say to anybody that any evidence or fact should not be told to the grand jury or public authorities? A.—Never.

Check Was "Confidential."

Q.—Now, at the conversation in your house at the time you gave the $2,500 check to Judge Hardy, Mrs. Hardy was there? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who else was there? A.—Mrs. McPherson and myself.

The witness went on to declare that it had been the intention to keep the $2,500 check "confidential" and that it was regarded as an "offering of love and friendship to Judge Hardy."

Q.—Now, the word "legal" is on the check. Did it indicate the kind of services Judge Hardy had done, or did it indicate the legal and defense fund from which the money was drawn? A.—Both.

Chicago Affidavit Presented.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Wayne Jordan, of Los Angeles, has excused as a witness after he had been summoned to the impeachment court with records from Mrs. McPherson's trial.

Jordan turned over a signed Chicago affidavit by Kenneth Ormiston, in which the latter swore he had been at Carmel with "Miss X"; a letter from Edward Martin, Chicago attorney, who represented Ormiston and who offered to negotiate with the Los Angeles authorities; and Los Angeles police records indicating that bad check charges had been filed against Mrs. Lorraine Weissman-Sleath, wife as a prosecution witness gave sensational testimony involving Judge Hardy and Mrs. McPherson before the senate.

JUDGE'S DRIVER GIVEN 25 YEARS IN MURDER CASE

Marshall Williams, 38 years old, colored chauffeur for Judge David M. Brothers of the Circuit court, would have been better off had he taken the punishment meted out to him several years ago by a Criminal court jury.

It turned out yesterday when a verdict of 25 years imprisonment for murder was fixed at his second trial. The first jury fixed the punishment at 14 years in the penitentiary.

Williams was convicted in 1928 for the murder of Elia Santeo, 41 years old, colored, at whose home he boarded. Judge Emanuel H. Jones at that time arranged him a new trial and the man has dressed through the court for nearly three years without the trial taking place.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday sentenced three April primary election officials belonging to the Morris Eller faction in the 20th ward to a year in the county jail for contempt of court. At the same time, in another trial, the state attorney jail sentences for twelve of the thirteen Eller henchmen on trial before a jury for election violence.

One of the three sentenced by Judge Jarecki is a woman, Dora Robin, who served as a clerk in the 8th precinct of the 20th ward. The others are Harry Schwartz and Timothy Sullivan, judges of election in the same precinct. The women and Schwartz testified on the defense in the trial of the thirteen in Judge Frank D. Comerford's court and also in the trial last fall before Judge John M. O'Connor.

The three were found guilty of election irregularities. Assistant State's Attorney William Haynes, charged that ten persons had voted in the precinct who were not registered, and that 400 others voted in the election without having made legal affidavits.

It was from this precinct that Joe Robinson, a colored worker, was kidnapped and made a prisoner. Dora Robin and Schwartz testified that all had been quiet primary day.

In the trial before Judge Comerford, Special Prosecutor Grover C. Niemeyer consumed the entire day in opening the final arguments against the followers of Ward Boss Eller's "America First" banner in the 20th ward. He asked a prison term of from one to five years for twelve of the defendants. The thirteen is Abe Klass, kinman of the Ellers, against whom no evidence has been introduced.

Today Attorney Thomas Nash will begin arguments for the defense. He will be followed by Defense Attorneys George Guenther and Benjamin Short.

AVIATION NOTES

Loop workers yesterday craned their cameras to the sky to view a round-the-world aviator's 19 airplanes fly past on their way to Detroit. In the cabin of the eleven Ford tri-motored planes were 150 passengers being flown to the motor city by the Gambil Motor company to promote the commercial use of airplanes. Eight smaller ships convoyed the larger planes on the trip.

Northwest Airways which flies mail and passengers between Chicago and the Twin Cities, yesterday announced that its first plane will stop daily at Rochester, Minn. The plane will depart from that city daily at 8:25 a. m. eastbound and 5:45 p. m. eastbound.

A device for indoor flying, designed as a method of teaching would-be pilots in safety has been developed by Alvin Bisch, 6231 South Steele avenue. The plans call for four cranes revolving on a turntable with airplanes suspended from the ends of the arms. When the cranes are revolved, the invention stated, the planes will be lifted from the ground and set in circular motion, giving the student flyer an opportunity to manipulate the plane on a limited scale.

Harry C. Culver of Los Angeles, president of the national association of real estate boards, flew into the Municipal airport field late Tuesday night from Detroit. He left yesterday for Minneapolis. He stated that his trip from Detroit was interrupted by a forced landing in a cornfield south of South Bend, when his fuel supply ran out.

TRANSIT HEARING INVITATIONS GET COOL RESPONSE

Few Indicate Desire to Go Before Legislators.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Just how many Chicago city officials, former officials and representatives of transit companies will respond to an invitation to discuss the transit bills before a house committee at Springfield next Tuesday remained uncertain last night. The committee on municipalities and Chicago traction which is holding hearings on the transportation program expressed a desire on Tuesday to hear from a number of persons who have not yet appeared.

Former Mayor Dever, one of those invited, is ill at home and probably will not appear. Former Mayor

Dunne has been sick for four months but thinks he will be able to go. He added he has some ideas on the bills. The attendance of former Mayor Harrison "depends upon circumstances." Former Corporation Counsel Busch said that he is busy with the McClintock bill case and probably will not finish it before next Tuesday. Former Ald. Schwartz said he will "think it over."

Mayo Go.

An inquiry at Mayor Thompson's office brought the statement that he has received an invitation.

Later Grover F. Nixon, former president of the Chicago real estate board, called on the mayor and detailed the situation at Springfield. Following the interview Mr. Nixon said that Mayor Thompson asserted that his attitude toward the bills was distinctly shown when he signed the council resolution indorsing the bills. The mayor is said to have added that he would confer with the citizens' committee before deciding whether he will go to the state capital.

John J. Fitzpatrick of the federation of labor in Washington and he is not expected to return by Tuesday.

On the other hand, representatives of the municipalities and Chicago traction companies Samuel Insull is in Europe; Henry A. Blair is in the east, and Leonard H. Husby said he doubted whether he could be of more service than the citizens' committee and their lawyers, and the aldermen and their lawyers, who are thoroughly acquainted with the bills.

At the Springfield hearing last Tuesday the following aldermen, none of whom had an opportunity to explain the bills, were present:

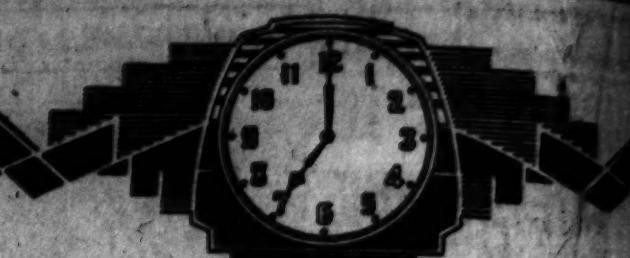

Anderson,	Cronan,	McCarthy.
Beverly,	Horan,	Stetka.
McDonough,	Northrop,	Morris.
Golds,	J. B. Bowler,	Hoover.
Kellogg,	Blankowski,	Niemiralski.
Taylor,	Seaman,	Nunes.
Clegg,	Adamowski,	T. J. Bowler.
Bellon,	Fogdenbush,	Nelson.
		Frankhauser.
	Total, 26.

In addition Sidney S. Gorham and Allan T. Gilbert, attorneys for the Citizens' committee, were on hand to explain the bills.

General Social Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Hornstein and J. J. McCarthy on hand to answer and explain anything desired. The Chicago delegation numbered more than 200 and many of them represented organizations either sponsoring or opposing the bills.

From the viewpoint of the proponents of the bills, there have been few delegations on important legislation in two decades which were better equipped to supply information.

In Chicago there is some doubt concerning the legislators' purpose in desiring sundry other persons to journey to Springfield. The house committee has held three public hearings and listened to some speakers on each of the three occasions. The Citizens' committee is said to be anxious to have all criticisms presented to the legislators to bring to light any defects there may be.

where near the facts, there might be some justification for exaggeration in order to stir up the public conscience. But there is absolutely no excuse for such absurd misstatements when they are fraught with such unfortunate consequences."

Dixon Holds His Ground.

Informed of this criticism, Mr. Dixon held his ground and defended his figures, obtained, he said, from social agencies in a position to know the facts as they obtain in Chicago. He was upheld by John H. Witter, head of the Chicago Boys club, who pointed out that conditions in Gary and in Chicago, with its scores of congenital缺点, are essentially very different.

"In smaller communities it is easier to place responsibility and to apprehend culprits," Witter explained. "It is this element of uncertainty that complicates matters here. For where great gangs of boys gather, one of them can perpetrate a piece of mischief and melt back into the crowd with no one the wiser—and no crime among boys flourishes."

"Three years ago," Mr. Dixon continued, "I analyzed his records and found that the average age of boys in Boys' week stated that 70 out of every 1,000 boys above 16 in Chicago have been in the courts, and that 80 per cent of crime is committed by boys under age. Investigation today shows that statement to be still substantially true."

Analysis Shows Percentage.

"Total arrests in a year, including traffic cases, family troubles, etc., generally involving adults, show a smaller percentage of arrests of boys, yet analysis of the figures reveals the high percentage of crimes of a serious nature involving boys and young men."

"One last publication," he reported, "shows two-thirds of all robberies reported in a year committed by boys between 16 and 25. They form 72 per cent of all under 25 accused of robbery. Fifty per cent of manslaughter cases involves boys under 25 and over 16, while of all slayers under 25 they form 60 per cent."

"Two-thirds of all burglaries are committed by boys under 25 and over 16, and 75 per cent of all auto thefts are perpetrated by boys of that age group. It would add to the statistics of Warden Fogarty that at least 1,000 out of 1,250 prisoners in the county jail are youths under 25, showing irrefutably that the age of criminals has lowered."

Dr. Clifford Shaw of the Institute for Juvenile Research, who is conducting an extensive survey along these lines, stated that there is no doubt that 85 per cent of criminals begin their careers before they are 21. He directed attention to juvenile court records, showing 19,000 complaints against, although all but 1,654 were adjudged, before reaching court age.

"On the average, group of 5,000 individuals under 25 called to court, he cited the following groupings of age percentages: 10 years, 2.1; 11, 4.6; 12, 7.2; 13, 10.4; 14, 15.4; 15, 19.7; 16, 23.8; 17 to 21, 16 per cent. This indicates the 'dangerous age' of boyhood as 16 years."

Caldwell Acts in Todd vs. Righheimer Battle.

H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the school board, yesterday blocked the possibility of another public face-up in the feud between James Todd, chief attorney for the board, and Frank S. Righheimer, special attorney handling condemnation suits.

Caldwell unexpectedly called off a special meeting of the board's finance committee scheduled to act upon Todd's recommendation that Righheimer and five other employees of the law department be dismissed as an economy measure.

Todd replied that the cut in personnel was in the interests of a saving of approximately $30,000 yearly in operation of the legal department.

The open charges against Todd came as a surprise to the trustees, who have been accustomed to settling wrangles among board officials and department heads in executive session before public meetings of the board are called.

Lindley's court awarded the judgment, but the upper court held that it was not a case of negligence on the part of the Ford company, inasmuch as none other of the 300,000 tractors then in use was known to have caused a similar accident.

SENATORS LINE UP FARM GROUPS AGAINST HOOVER

Export Bounty Plan to Be Put in Bill.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)
Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—Support of farm organizations is being enlisted by members of the senate committee on agriculture who propose to approve tomorrow a farm relief bill at variance with the administration program.

Not only is it to include an optional export bounty scheme as advocated by the National grange, but changes in the bill are to be made at the instance of the American Farm Bureau federation and the National Farmers' union.

Want Board of Twelve.

At the suggestion of the American Farm Bureau federation the committee, it is understood, will provide that the federal farm board shall be made up of twelve instead of six appointive members, one to come from each of the twelve federal land bank districts. The house bill, which creates a board composed of six appointive members and the secretary of agriculture, was framed in accordance with recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, who favored a small board and the elimination of geographical requirements.

Changes designed to strengthen the position of the proposed stabilization corporation and to guarantee them against loss are to be incorporated at the suggestion of the National Farmers' union.

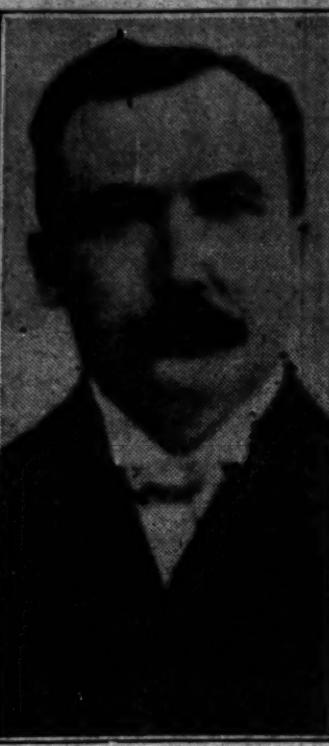

Export Bounty Provided.

The text of the proposed export bounty amendment, as made public today, follows the lines of the National grange proposal for an export bounty on farm products equal to one-half of the tariff duties on the same product.

Representative B. H. Snell (Rep., N. Y.), chairman of the house rules committee, who was a caller at the White House today, questioned the right of the senate to initiate legislation dealing with export bounty plans, which, he said, was a revenue provision which ought properly to originate in the house. His position was challenged by senators.

Debate on the farm bill is to commence tomorrow in the house. A report explaining the provisions of the bill on behalf of the committee on agriculture was filed with the house tonight by Representative Gilbert N. Haugen (Rep., Iowa), chairman of the committee.

The resolution declares that the policy of the federal reserve board in seeking to force a liquidation of speculative holdings "is wholly unnecessary under the sound financial banking conditions existing in this country." ### REVALUATION MAP OF RIVER FOREST FIRST COMPLETED

A tentative land values map for River Forest was completed yesterday, the first of the small towns of Cook county to be covered by the reassessment workers. The plat showed the following front foot market prices:

Lake st., See Line to Harlan av $200 to $700

Harlan av., Oak to North ave. 75 to 130

Madison st., Des Plaines river to Lake st., 100 to 240

Theriot st., Madison st. to

North ave. 100 to 110

North ave., Des Plaines river to Harlan ave. 175 to 225

North ave., Madison st. to

North ave. 50 to 145

Progress on the reassessment in Chicago was still being delayed by the refusal of Assessor John Conroy to approve any sectional plats until more were completed. And in many of the country towns the appraisers are meeting with opposition from local officials who fear the revaluation will raise taxes, it was reported by Harry S. Cutmore, director of the re-assessment.

80,000 TURNED AWAY BY COUNTY HOSPITAL IN 1928

Report Shows Need for Medium Priced Clinics.

More than 80,000 applicants for free medical care at the County hospital were refused hospitalization in 1928, according to the annual report of Dr. Michael Zimmerman, which was completed yesterday. Warden Zimmerman gave a variety of reasons for the decline.

Because of the controversy between the Chicago Medical society and Dr. Louis A. Schmidt, noted physician for the establishment of clinics which will give medical care to members of the middle class at low cost, the statistics were studied closely by physicians. Adherents of Dr. Schmidt declared the figures showed the need of the extension of inexpensive medical services to persons of moderate means.

No Middle Road for Sick. At present Chicagoans have only one choice between free hospital care and the high bills of private hospitals, it was pointed out. The small earners are forced to apply to the county hospital, but when investigators asked admittance to the hospital last year. Only 47,753 were admitted.

"There are a multitude of reasons why the other 31,108 persons were not given beds in the hospital," said the warden. "All of them, we believe, were good persons and all were based on the idea that the hospital is for the poor person. The principal reasons for refusal of admittance are: The applicant does not need hospitalization; he needs only a diagnosis and prescription to be filled out or free medicine; he is found to be able to pay for his care; or his case may be cared for at one of five dispensaries operated in cooperation with the hospital."

Investigate Financial Standing.

When an applicant is found in need of medical care, a detailed statement of his finances is taken, the warden said. Investigators then determine whether he or she is poor enough to be taken in.

There is not much chance for the $5,000 a year man with a large family to support to whom a big hospital bill will prove ruinous.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Association Journal, in an editorial in the magazine to be published today, discussed the Dr. Schmidt-Medical society controversy.

After reviewing the circumstances leading up to the coming of Dr. Schmidt from the medical and the subsequent resignation of Dr. Herman N. Bunnissen, Cook county coroner, in protest, the editorial declares:

"What must be the attitude of medicine toward the situation? The American Medical association, as has been stated, has been giving serious consideration for years to the problem of the cost of medical care. It should at once be emphasized that the bill of the physician represents one small portion of this cost. The total costs represent actually the advancement of medical science, including the use of the X-rays, of laboratory technique, of hospital beds, of nurses, and of many other factors associated with good modern medical care."

No Panacea, He Says.

"At least ten representatives of the American Medical association are actively associated with the committee on the cost of medical care, which is endeavoring to make a survey of the situation with a view to finding out what medical practice may be organized better to distribute the costs that have been mentioned and thereby to lower costs generally."

"There is, however, no panacea that will cure the condition. The self-seeking, quack-madness, uninformed and not stupid, mouthings of notoriety seekers, will do more to inhibit an early solution than to solve the problem. Already those wise in the ways of the world know that there will come from this Chicago turmoil nothing that can be forced. The issue cannot be forced. Dr. Schmidt is not a martyr; he has done far too well in the cause of medicine to assume this role."

"The public must realize that, regardless of the continual number of medical practice, physicians will be required for the work patients able to pay for individual care will always receive better attention than those handled by mass methods. Human beings cannot be relieved of their alliments as are motor cars."

CLAIMS HUSBAND SET DOG ON HER; ASKS SEPARATION

Charging she was unable to take her part in family quarrels because of a Boston bull dog which jealously guarded her husband, Dr. Edward Von Borries, plastic surgeon, 162 North State street. Mrs. Thelma Von Borries yesterday sued for separate maintenance in the Circuit court. She charges cruelty.

Mrs. Von Borries charged that her husband urged the dog, named Drexel, to attack her when she resented his cruelty. She left Dr. Von Borries Tuesday after the dog bit her on the right foot at his command, the bill states. On that occasion they were quarreling on Wabash avenue, she claimed.

The bill alleges that Dr. Von Borries made his wife sleep in the office to save room rent, and that he forced her to get down on her knees to ask for anything she wished.

BRITAIN STANDS PAT ON BALFOUR WAR DEBT POLICY

Denies Settlement with France Is Unfair.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune news service.)
LONDON, April 17.—The Stanley Baldwin government, through Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, secretary of state, downed a challenge to the Labor party tonight on the bombshell exploded last night by Philip Snowden, former Labor chancellor of the exchequer, who declared that the Labor party felt itself free to repudiate the conditions of the Balfour note of 1922, by which Great Britain will collect from the allies and Germany only enough to cover its debt payment to the United States, and Mr. Snowden's attack on France, whom he charged with "bilking" her debtors.

Mr. Snowden was impudent. Before a house packed to its limits, he declared:

"I decline to make an apology. I don't intend to withdraw a single word."

Triles to Explain Words.

The government benches howled. Then Mr. Snowden declared that he had been misunderstood. He denied that he had "repudiated" the allies' debt agreements and declared that he had said: "We have never subscribed to the principle of the Balfour note. We would hold ourselves open if circumstances arose to repudiate the conditions of that note."

But the government benches greeted this explanation with laughter.

The ministers then appealed to Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor party, to explain labor's real policy. It was a difficult position for Mr. MacDonald, for, as he explained whimsically, he was flanked by two honorable members [Mr. Snowden and J. H. Thomas], who were in the habit of taking their adjectives from the mustard pot. But Mr. MacDonald eventually agreed some sort of peace by the declaration:

"I want to say so that there can be no possible doubt about it that as long as I occupy the position I do there shall be no repudiation. There is an accusation made that my colleagues and myself, if returned to office, would not honor the signature of this country. No one knows better than Sir Austin Chamberlain what much substance there is in that accusation."

"A Wanton Act."

The excitement started when Sir Laming read the cabinet's memorandum denouncing Mr. Snowden's doctrine.

"It is surely a wanton andreckless act," he said, "for Mr. Snowden and his party to offer to repudiate the principle on which every forward step towards European construction and peace has been taken."

The war secretary endeavored to show that, contrary to Mr. Snowden's contention, Great Britain had made arrangements hardly less favorable than the arrangement between the United States on the one hand and France and Italy on the other.

If the Labor party's declaration was presented to the House of Commons, it led to believe that in the future British policy might aim at obtaining larger payments than required of Great Britain to pay the United States, he said, then "an injury will be done not only to British interests but also to the wider interests of world peace."

Then Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, leaped into the fray. He described Mr. Snowden's use of the phrase "bilking" regarding France as an offensive slang term from the gutter, used to convey hatred and contempt for a nation with whom Great Britain is on the closest of friendly relations and with whom it had been through the most terrible conflict in history.

"What is the use of employing such terms?" asked Mr. Churchill, crashing his fist on the table. He appealed to Mr. MacDonald to throw Mr. Snowden overboard.

Next came Sir Austin Chamberlain, foreign secretary, who spoke restrainingly. "I am not going to use the language of the street corner," he said. "I leave that to other people. But I do deliberately use foreign secretary that no worse damage could have been done in any parliament, no greater damage done to the cause of the progress we have already accomplished and hope to accomplish in the next few months, than the rash words of the right honorable gentleman."

CHILDREN MARCH STEADILY OUT OF BLAZING SCHOOL

The sight of firemen with hose and axes scrambling up the stairs of the Yale public school, 70th street and Yale avenue, failed to break the discipline of 700 pupils who marched compositely to the street in unbroken ranks yesterday when an alarm was sounded.

It was just another fire drill practice for the children, but the firemen had more than practice in battling a blaze which roared through the roof, and wrecked the school attic with an estimated loss of $2,000. Battalion Chief John T. Monahan attributed the fire to crossed electric wires.

W. A. Stahl, the schoolhouse engineer, discovered the flames, sounded an alarm and notified Mrs. J. N. Phelps, the principal, who instantly ordered the signal for fire drill. When the district superintendent, Miss Martha the Bishop, arrived, the ranks of pupils were still unbroken in the street, although it was past school hours. The superintendent delivered a short impromptu speech, praising the youngsters and teaching staff for the discipline shown.

James T. Harrington, who, with Hirschfeld Miller and Joseph O'Keefe had admitted the charges, testified that McSweeney was not present in the Commodore grill, 127-29 South Kedzie Avenue, as charged in the indictment. Miller and O'Keefe are expected to give similar testimony this morning. Other witnesses supported his testimony by saying that when the grill was raided on July 21, 1927, prohibition agents sought to detain them, thinking they were connected with the place, although McSweeney was dining there with his family.

Willow Springs county highway police learned that her father was out at the time looking for work.

ROOT HOME TO TELL NATION OF 'SALE' TO LEAGUE

Statesman Expects U. S. to O. K. Deal.

New York, April 17.—[Special]—Elli Root, 84 year old statesman, returned from Europe today on the Ile de France after his greatest feat of diplomatic salesmanship—the "sell"ing of the United States senate's reservations on the world court to the Senate's committee of the league of nations.

The former secretary of state declined in a prepared statement given through the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, that there was no chance the United States would join the world tribunal.

Although the venerable lawyer was optimistic, information from Washington is that irreconcilables are prepared to make as strong a fight as ever against the proposal that the Senate becomes a party to the court.

Avoid Reporters.

Mr. Root did not see newspapermen. It was said that, despite his advanced age, he stood the trip well and was in excellent health. His statement, after outlining the development of the court since 1920 and noting that few changes in it had been necessary, pointed out that an agreement had been framed "based upon the acceptance of all the senate's reservations and providing for the application of the reservations to particular cases when they arise."

Protocol Being Communicated.

"This agreement," the statement continued, "in the form of protocol to be annexed to the statute of the court, will, in the opinion of our committee, protect the interests of all parties concerned in the practical application of undisputed principles of justice. This proposed protocol has been, or is about to be, communicated to all parties concerned."

The cordial expressions of all parties supporting the court of an international character of the United States justify this proposed agreement on their part and the terms of Mr. Kellogg's letter inspire a similar hope as to the action of the United States."

GERMANY OFFERS 37 ANNUITIES OF $392,700,000 EACH

Total 3 Billion Under Allies' Demand.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

reparations, but leaves a deficit of 1,000,000,000 gold marks, about $235,000,000.

$3,000,000,000 Discrepancy.

The total figure demanded by the allies comes to 39,200,000,000 gold marks, about $5,282,000,000, while the total proposed by Germany represents 26,000,000,000 gold marks, about $4,181,000,000, or $2,094,000,000 less than the allies demand. The inter-allied debts are computed at about $5,321,000,000, and the Dawes loan of $235,000,000, and the credits for the American occupation of $357,000,000 total $6,426,000,000 or $235,000,000 more than Germany offers to pay.

The French writers bitterly point out that France has spent between $4,692,000,000 and $7,820,000,000 in rehabilitating the devastated regions, all of which will have to be charged up to the profit and loss account when the German offer is accepted, while England will be in receipt nearly $952,000,000. Belgium, $1,428,000,000, Jugoslavia, and Roumania would all lose proportionately.

Expert Pessimistic.

So great is the gap between the German memorandum and the demands of the allies that there is no great optimism.

Dr. Schacht's counter proposal today of what Germany is willing to pay as reparations was 1,850,000,000 marks annually, or about $392,700,000 for 37 years.

As soon as the figures leaked out, the French press set up a howl of protest and pointed out that the German offer was just sufficient to offset the interest on American debts, leaving no balance for reparations.

The HOUR that is 60,000 minutes long . . .

IT'S THE HOUR that begins when you sign your last letter and call it a day. You leave your office, fatigued in mind and body, nerves ready to snap from the rasp of the city's din. You're tired—dog-tired.

Somewhere—it seems so far away when you are tired—is the haven you call home. There, peace and quiet are waiting. But between you and this haven stretches a maelstrom of noise through which you must shoulder your way. The hour when your rest should begin becomes an hour that seems 60,000 minutes long—unless . . .

. . . a Rolls-Royce is waiting at your office door! Then all is comfort and quiet. For this car has banished not only ordinary rattles, but even those tiny whispers which, through constant repetition, rag your nerves to further weariness.

In a Rolls-Royce there's not a murmur from the motor, scarcely a tremor from the wheels. The city may clamor all about you—you rest in cathedral quiet. Run may cordon the road—you ride so smoothly you can sleep! You float, relaxed—to arrive home strengthened and refreshed. You need no doctor to tell you what this hour of peace would mean to your health and happiness—to your business efficiency!

And yet this priceless boon of quiet is only one of the advantages that Rolls-Royce brings you.

Is it a driving thrill you want? Rolls-Royce will reveal motoring joys you never knew existed. Safety? Collision insurance rates prove that this car is the safest car in the world! Rolls-Royce is guaranteed for three years. Long life? This car will last twenty years or longer.

But you say you can't afford a Rolls-Royce? Think twice about that! Chances are you've spent more for automobiles in the last ten years than a Rolls-Royce costs—without enjoying any of the benefits that Rolls-Royce offers. From now on get your money's worth! Invest your motoring dollars as 163 leading bankers have theirs—in the best fine car investment in the world . . . Rolls-Royce.

Crafty plotting by "Uncle Shylock" is seen in the reparations commission's deliberations by Senator Charles Dumont, who asks several pointed questions in an article published here today.

Are the American delegates attempting to cut down the French claims on reparations in order to allow German bankers to give them a better position? What does Senator Dumont ask? Have these American bankers been receiving reliable assurance that their loans would be given precedence over the reparations payments? And are not the American bankers aware that their loans will be used by Germany to build military railway station facilities, military bridges, military automobiles and highways?

FARM RELIEF IN CONGRESS.

A significant sentence in Mr. Hoover's message on farm relief was that which noted that the government has its mandate from the country to enact legislation for the benefit of the agricultural population. The special session is now in possession of the ideas of the President on the subject; congress knows with some definiteness what he will and what he will not approve. Within those limits it may proceed, and there seems to be no good reason why it should not proceed promptly.

The relief bill drafted by the house committee on agriculture, when read in connection with the President's message, indicates clearly that the President had exchanged ideas with the members of the committee. The brief testimony of the secretary of agriculture before the committee probably was not the only contact between the executive and the legislative branches. The message, indeed, may be considered as a prospectus for the bill. The President may not approve the bill as drafted in all its details, but it may be assumed he will accept it in large part.

The heart of the bill is the creation of a $50 million dollar revolving fund to be advanced to associations of farmers to enable them to market their crops in an orderly fashion. The framers of the bill believe that depression in farm prices results largely either from a seasonal oversupply at harvest time which creates a temporary surplus, or from unusually favorable weather which creates large crops and a depression which may last for a year. The bill proposes to make advances to farmers' associations to enable them to pay the farmers at harvest while holding the grain from the market for more favorable prices, thus relieving the temporary depressions. The loan fund will also enable the cooperatives to carry a surplus from one year to the next on the theory that a fat year will be succeeded by a lean one, especially if acreage adjustments are made to assure smaller crops. The crop surpluses, most observers agree, are the principal cause of price depression, and the remedies suggested should improve the farmer's lot, though they will not solve all his problems.

A number of difficulties appear at once. It has seldom been easy to get farmers to join cooperatives; and when they have joined, it is frequently difficult to convince them to remain within the fold. The bill recognizes these facts in authorizing the expenditure of money from the revolving fund for soliciting members for cooperatives. It is an unusual use of treasury money and it may prove extremely costly if the provision is to be regarded as a precedent for other economic and social interests in the country.

The revolving fund is to be distributed by a federal farm board of five members. All but the chairman will receive $13,000, and the chairman will receive whatever the President thinks he must pay to get the kind of man he wants. This is an unusual but a wise provision. There are probably not more than a dozen men in the United States who have the executive experience, the knowledge of agriculture, of finance, and of farmer psychology to assure success to the undertaking, and these men command high salaries. The success of the plan depends in extraordinary degree upon the man at the head of the farm board. The law is drawn to permit a good deal of leeway in which the business judgment of the chairman of the farm board can operate. In his hands will rest the prosperity of the farm population and $60 million dollars of the taxpayers' money. Such a man cannot be obtained at the price of an Arkansas mayor.

The President and the house committee are opposed to the export debenture plan of farm relief which was favored by the National Grange. The export debenture has attracted much support among senators. It provides that the exporter of farm products is to receive a certificate with a value of half the amount of the tariff on that commodity if imported. The tariff on a bushel of wheat is 42 cents. Under this plan the exporter of a bushel of wheat will receive a note for 21 cents in addition to the price he receives for the wheat. The exporter of the wheat would sell his note to an importer of woolens, or electrical goods, or any other dutiable product, and the note will be accepted at the custom house. This method, it is estimated, will reduce the income of the treasury by close to 150 million dollars a year and will subsidize some farmers by substantially that amount.

The plan is not without its merits, but politically the farmers may lose a good deal by insisting upon its adoption, for to do so may bring about another impasse and another failure to enact comprehensive farm relief. This is not to say that the house bill is above criticism and must be accepted or rejected in its present form; but rather that the measure of relief promised in the house bill is substantial and ought not to be sacrificed needlessly.

The great virtue of the debenture plan in the eyes of its friends is that it may be expected to achieve results without the conscious cooperation of the farmers themselves. The President's plan depends entirely upon the cooperation of farmers. If they will not join forces, and remain united, the fund cannot conceivably help them.

PRIVILEGED EXHORTATION.

The vermin who exist here by extorting money from persons who work can be exterminated as vermin should. Obviously, the only reason the victims submit to the extortions is that they do not trust the processes of law to protect them from injury. That disgust must be based upon experience. The victims must feel that they have no chance or they would not submit to the more aggravating abuse which people can be forced to endure, that of having their earnings and profits taken from them by low scoundrels.

Hardly any such imposition can be successful without leaving the evidence of the crime all about. The blackmailing of one person might be secretive and its success might be found in the dread of the individual to have any discovery made of his secret. But continued robbery of citizens in many ways of life requires protection or official indifference.

The state's attorney's office can hardly expect that the victims of the vermin will come in with their complaints. They believe that the only consequence of this will be a broken head or a bomb on the front steps. The administration of justice will prove that it is more dangerous for the criminals to dig gold out of other men's work than it is for the workers to resist such extortion. When the way to the penitentiary is more open than the way to the hospital the abuse will be on its way to a remedy.

OUR CIVIC BASEBALLERS.

The Cubs took one on the nose at the opening Tuesday from Pittsburgh to the regret of citizens who are relying on one or the other of the Chicago majors to come through this summer with something the other cities cannot easily laugh off. Mr. Wrigley has taken the band off the roll in obtaining the best available young men, and, although the start with the young green onions was not auspicious, it is confidently expected that by the time the sweet corn is ready the rest of the country will be observing the proceedings with rage, humiliation, and disgust.

It is traditional that a city with a championship baseball team is everything its citizenship wants it to be and everything all other cities would like to be. There are many inducements for both the Sox and the Cubs to undertake this worthy project of putting the high hat on the city which pays them their wages. Apparently it is the opinion of experts that the Cubs have the better chance this year and probably the young men would feel more inspired if the nature of their undertaking were better expressed. Mr. Wrigley should be advised by Mr. Insull and by the management of the Goodman theater. The better name, indeed, may be considered as a prospectus for the bill. The President may not approve the bill as drafted in all its details, but it may be assumed he will accept it in large part.

The heart of the bill is the creation of a $50 million dollar revolving fund to be advanced to associations of farmers to enable them to market their crops in an orderly fashion. The framers of the bill believe that depression in farm prices results largely either from a seasonal oversupply at harvest time which creates a temporary surplus, or from unusually favorable weather which creates large crops and a depression which may last for a year. The bill proposes to make advances to farmers' associations to enable them to pay the farmers at harvest while holding the grain from the market for more favorable prices, thus relieving the temporary depressions. The loan fund will also enable the cooperatives to carry a surplus from one year to the next on the theory that a fat year will be succeeded by a lean one, especially if acreage adjustments are made to assure smaller crops. The crop surpluses, most observers agree, are the principal cause of price depression, and the remedies suggested should improve the farmer's lot, though they will not solve all his problems.

The interesting feature of the test was not that it could be done but that it was done. It was a demonstration that the French railroad operators are sympathetic to the demands of their patrons. Traffic managers, in the United States can learn from the French that progress in railroad service is yet possible.

Some sensitiveness to the comfort and convenience of the public has, however, been demonstrated by American railroads in the last week or two.

The Pennsylvania and the New York Central made the coincident announcement that a number of their twenty-two hour trains were to be speeded, the new schedule to go in effect the last of April. This program, however, was only a compromise, for the minimum running time remains at twenty hours. President Atterbury has admitted that a sixteen hour schedule is practicable. Only disregard for the welfare of the public will prevent this schedule from being inaugurated.

The revolving fund is to be distributed by a federal farm board of five members. All but the chairman will receive $13,000, and the chairman will receive whatever the President thinks he must pay to get the kind of man he wants. This is an unusual but a wise provision. There are probably not more than a dozen men in the United States who have the executive experience, the knowledge of agriculture, of finance, and of farmer psychology to assure success to the undertaking, and these men command high salaries. The success of the plan depends in extraordinary degree upon the man at the head of the farm board. The law is drawn to permit a good deal of leeway in which the business judgment of the chairman of the farm board can operate. In his hands will rest the prosperity of the farm population and $60 million dollars of the taxpayers' money. Such a man cannot be obtained at the price of an Arkansas mayor.

The President and the house committee are opposed to the export debenture plan of farm relief which was favored by the National Grange.

The export debenture has attracted much support among senators. It provides that the exporter of farm products is to receive a certificate with a value of half the amount of the tariff on that commodity if imported.

The tariff on a bushel of wheat is 42 cents. Under this plan the exporter of a bushel of wheat will receive a note for 21 cents in addition to the price he receives for the wheat. The exporter of the wheat would sell his note to an importer of woolens, or electrical goods, or any other dutiable product, and the note will be accepted at the custom house. This method, it is estimated, will reduce the income of the treasury by close to 150 million dollars a year and will subsidize some farmers by substantially that amount.

The plan is not without its merits, but politically the farmers may lose a good deal by insisting upon its adoption, for to do so may bring about another impasse and another failure to enact comprehensive farm relief. This is not to say that the house bill is above criticism and must be accepted or rejected in its present form; but rather that the measure of relief promised in the house bill is substantial and ought not to be sacrificed needlessly.

The great virtue of the debenture plan in the eyes of its friends is that it may be expected to achieve results without the conscious cooperation of the farmers themselves. The President's plan depends entirely upon the cooperation of farmers.

If they will not join forces, and remain united, the fund cannot conceivably help them.

LIMITATIONS:

There are some things I do not know

And I shall tell you one by one:—

I know not where the late stars go,

Nor where the longest rivers run.

I know not why one rose comes red,

And why another is as snow,

Nor why each one so soon is dead

And broken when the north winds blow.

Atop the old barn on the hill

I've seen the swallows in a row,

And every glossy one was still—

I know not why, but it was so.

Then I have felt a solemn hush

Fold down on thorn and linden tree;

On catbird, wren and lovely thrush,

And even on the searching bee.

And I have seen my friends go down

To sleep beneath a sweeping bough;

To be content far from the town—

I know not why death comes nor how.

Yet I have seen a black tree turn

From winter's waste to summer's green,

And I have seen a love-fire burn—

Ah, I cannot tell what I have seen.

Germany has forbidden the importation of corned beef. And, while our dough boys were on the Rhine, all they had to eat three times a day was corn willy. And now, after they're gone—oh, well, who won the war? . . . What has become of Mrs. Gann? And Texas Guinan? And Mabel Willibrand? Gosh, we do miss those girls. Wonder where they went? . . . Yes, we're reading it, too. Francis Hackett puts in plenty of color in his story of Henry VIII. No, don't tell us how it comes out. We like to make our own guesses on a crime story. Right now we suspect Catherine of Aragon. . . . God help the rich on these cold days, the poor can buy fur coats on installment.

R. H. L.: I sit lost deep in the vacuum of a starless night, smiling sardonically at myself and asking perturbing questions of a recalcitrant ego. . . . Where are words to string in new formations . . . words to tell of love reborn . . . of faces with smiles revisited? But, there are no phrases to cigarette my heart's unrest, no catch words to bridge the chasm between me and my dream. Then shall I lose myself in the wild, exultant ecstasy of frolicsome nymphs and satyrs? But Pan would never accept me . . . my voice is a squawk, my dancing trips me, and I have never had lessons on a flute. FASTER BOAT TRAINS.
 The first continental experience and the last one of thousands of American tourists is the ride on the boat train from Cherbourg to Paris. It is a tedious trip and officials of the French state lines are conducting experiments to shorten the run. With tracks cleared, a trial train, drawn by a special high powered locomotive, covered the 231 miles in three hours and eighteen minutes. The average speed was seventy miles an hour and a speed of 92 miles an hour was sometimes attained.

The interesting feature of the test was not that it could be done but that it was done. It was a demonstration that the French railroad operators are sympathetic to the demands of their patrons.

Traffic managers, in the United States can learn from the French that progress in railroad service is yet possible.

Some sensitiveness to the comfort and convenience of the public has, however, been demonstrated by American railroads in the last week or two.

PROHIBITION REACTION IN ILLINOIS.

(Peoria, Ill., Journal-Transcript.)

The King resolution, memorializing President Hoover to instruct his law enforcement commission to devise ways and means of enforcing the 18th and 19th amendments as well as the 18th, was unanimously passed by the Illinois house of representatives. It had to pass. It was introduced by Representative William E. King, Negro member of the legislature, and none dared vote against it. Political reprisals would have been certain to follow against any legislator who dared to go on record against it.

Nevertheless, it occasioned an uproar in the house nearly an hour. Wets and drys dragged in the De Kin shopping, the recent coast guard outrages, the sinking of the I'm Alone, the Jones law, and all of the other evidences of modern prohibition hysteria.

Even Chicago mayoralty races were talked about by legislators who discerned in the memorial a slap at the King resolution.

The King resolution, and the reaction to it, is an amusing situation. It presents the picture of a house of representatives of a very important state solemnly asking congress to do something to enforce the letter and spirit of a portion of the national constitution while this same house, consistently, refuses to heed the state constitution and bring about reapportionment to provide Chicago with legal representation in the legislature. It reveals the house members, fearful of Negro reprisals unless they pass the resolution, while at the same time the individual members talk wildly about prohibition and all of its blunders, evils, and virtues as though the memorial to congress were on the wet and dry question rather than on Negro suffrage.

If any more evidence were needed to the extent to which prohibition has become the major political and social problem in this country, what happened this last week in Springfield would provide it.

UKRAINE KEEPS SOVIET MOSCOW AWAKE NIGHTS

Revolt Powder Keg
Awaiting Match.

BY MARK RASUMNY.

ON BOARD THE KHARKOV-MOSCOW TRAIN, April 17.—I doubt if there is a better place in the world for making chance acquaintances than the railroad car. While traveling people lose their habitual reserve and shyness. This is especially the case in Russia, for while traveling Russians act as though the car were their home and that the other travelers were members of their families and friends. During my journey through the Ukraine I spent more than a week on the trains. At present there are now sleeping cars on the Russian railroads. There are no longer first, second, and third class travel facilities; instead, they have hard and soft seats. In the former travel the workers and peasants and in the latter the communists and officials. I met scores of people during my journey. They belonged to all classes. Of the cars in which I crossed Russia and the Ukraine flashed before me in kaleidoscope fashion, communists, government officials, foreign technicians employed by the government, Red army officers and soldiers, teachers, professors, engineers, painters, students, sailors and last and most important, agents of the Gay Pay Out political police, "cheka". What surprised me was that once in the car they all seemed to forget what position they occupied and joined in the general conversation.

Bumps Make Conversation.

How can this be explained? The answer is that the Russian trains proceed slowly and railroad journeys consume many hours of time. The bumpy roadbed makes reading difficult, and besides it seemed to be that everybody in Russia had something on his mind and wanted to get rid of it through talking.

It is both remarkable and characteristic that these free for all talks only take place while the train is moving. So long as the wheels rattle and the coach bounces along the roadbed everybody curses or defends bolshevism. But when the train slows down before the station, the majority of the passengers recollect that there is a policeman on the platform and that they have been talking high treason before the inspectors and checklists and there is a sudden silence.

Patriot Speaks His Mind.

The argument I will relate began at the station Nikolsky. In Ukrainian the name of the town is Mikolayev and on the station both names are painted, the Ukrainian one on top. A Great Russian, a man from Moscow, in our compartment asked his Ukrainian companion scornfully: "Do you find Mikolayev more beautiful than Nikolsky? If I had my way I would abolish this incorrect spelling. The idea of placing the Ukrainian name first! Why, Nikolsky has been called by its Russian name hundreds of years and now you have to go and change it. I'd like to abolish the entire Ukrainian language."

His neighbor said nothing, but from the other end of the seat came a reply.

"You are mistaken, dorogoye Tovaruchtsch [dear comrade]," this voice that of a Ukrainian, said quietly. "Nikolayev has always been a Ukrainian town and it was the Russians who originally changed its name. Perhaps we will be the first to abolish the incorrect inscription Nikolayev and perhaps we will do away with Great Russia in our country. It is about time you people in Moscow realized that we are not a Russian province, but the wide, free Ukraine."

"Where do you get that stuff?" chimed in another passenger. "On the contrary, we must be satisfied. The policy of 'Ukrainization' is progressing with gigantic steps. People with half their lives behind them are sitting down with an A-B-C book and learning to read and write their language. We are subjects of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and we have to follow where the Moscow dictatorship leads. I also am a Ukrainian and I can state in this respect that there is a policeman on the platform and that we have been talking high treason before the inspectors and checklists and there is a sudden silence.

Such a conversation continued hours with half the lives behind them and sitting down with an A-B-C book and learning to read and write their language. We are subjects of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and we have to follow where the Moscow dictatorship leads. I also am a Ukrainian and I can state in this respect that there is a policeman on the platform and that we have been talking high treason before the inspectors and checklists and there is a sudden silence.

The dissatisfaction with the Moscow régime has intensified into hatred. The bolsheviks in Moscow have drained all the grain from the Ukraine for other parts of Russia and for export abroad. The produce tax compels the Ukrainian peasant to pay far more of his crop to the government than he receives in return.

But I found the separatist movement in importance among all classes of inhabitants and frequently I heard bitter quarrels between Ukrainians and White Russians on whether or not Russia was going to disintegrate into separate independent states.

5 OFFICERS OF POLICE FORCE ARE PROMOTED

Two lieutenants and three sergeants of police were promoted yesterday by Commissioner Russell, the appointments being effective at once. Lieut. Charles G. Easig of the detective division was made a temporary captain, and Lieut. Thomas F. McFarland and Sergt. John T. Cartan, both of the detective bureau, were appointed temporary lieutenants of detectives. Sergt. Alva C. Stevenson, assigned to the 48th and Wabash station, and John J. Hardy of the detective bureau were promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

Despite all Moscow's efforts this nationalistic movement toward complete independence is growing and strengthening under the economic disaster of bolshevik rule. Whether Moscow will permit Ukraine to secede without a civil war is a question and if this ever comes bolshevism will face its own crisis.

NOTE TO CANADA TELLS WHY U. S. SUNK I'M ALONE

Details of Answer to Protest Not Made Public.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special]—The American reply to the Canadian protest against the sinking of the Canadian rum runner "I'm Alone" in the Gulf of Mexico on March 22 by the coast guard was delivered to the Canadian legation today by the state department.

At the request of the Ottawa government its contents were not made public and it was said that neither the American nor the Canadian notes would be given out until Canada had had an opportunity to submit an answer.

State department officials predicted today that the Canadian rebuttal would be short, an assertion which was interpreted as indicating that Canadian officials had been given to understand informally in advance the nature of the American note.

Attitude Believed Amicable.

Like the Canadian protest, the American communication is understood to be conciliatory and it is believed the dispute will be confined to legal aspects of the case, and whether the schooner when first hailed by the coast guard was inside or outside of the one hour's steaming distance from the American shore, specified in the ship liquor treaty.

Should it be determined that the vessel was in treaty waters when the pursuit was undertaken, the case is expected to turn on an interpretation of the treaty, with particular reference as to whether or not hot pursuit may be undertaken from treaty rather than from territorial waters.

May Go to Arbitration.

Many precedents are said to have been cited by each side and the issue may not be determined short of arbitration before an international tribunal as provided for in the ship liquor treaty.

The American position from the first has been that unless hot pursuit can be initiated from within the one hour's steaming distance the treaty means little or nothing. The Canadian attitude has been that on broad grounds such an extension of jurisdiction beyond the three mile limit cannot be admitted. This phase of the matter is of prime importance to the British empire.

COURT REFUSES TO O.K. BONDSEN FOR DR. RONGETTI

The Supreme court yesterday refused to approve the sureties presented to sign the $25,000 bond for Dr. Amante Rongetti, who is under sentence of life imprisonment in the penitentiary for manslaughter. The physician was charged with having murdered Miss Loretta Enders, 19 year old unwed mother, by performing an illegal operation. At his first trial he was sentenced to death; but the second trial resulted in the manslaughter verdict. Unless Rongetti presents bondsman acceptable to the court, he will have to go to jail pending review of his second conviction.

COURT REFUSES WRIT TO HOLD UP MUSEUM PROJECT

Rules Park Bond Issue Is Legal.

Superior Judge Oscar Hebel yesterday summarily denied a petition for an injunction to restrain the South Park commissioners from issuing $5,000,000 in bonds to renovate the old Fine Arts building in Jackson park, preparatory to the establishment of the Rosenwald industrial museum. The injunction was sought by Attorney William E. Furlong, who charged the commissioners have no right to divert public funds for the use of a private corporation.

Bonds Bonds Are Illegal.

The bond issue was approved by referendum in 1924. At that time Attorney Furlong attacked its legality. He was defeated by a decision of the Supreme court in 1928. Tuesday he filed a petition for the injunction in new assault.

Attorney William Rothmann, representing the South Park commissioners and Attorney Leo F. Wiesner, representing the museum, forced an immediate hearing of the petition which threatened to block the project. Judge Hebel ruled that the question of the legality of the issue had been decided by the Supreme court. He refused to comment on the use of public funds to provide a guard for a private corporation.

Sell $3,500,000 in Bonds.

Following the decision the sale of $3,500,000 in the bonds was completed.

This amount was purchased last Friday by the Ames Emerich company in competitive bidding. With the injunction proceedings pending the investment company refused to proceed with the purchase until Judge Hebel ruled on the petition.

Waldemar Kaempffert, director of the proposed museum, outlined the project at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Hotel La Salle. He announced that work will begin June 1.

289,000 ITALIAN YOUTHS TO ENTER FASCISTI SUNDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 17.—Two hundred and eight-nine thousand Italian youths of 13 will be inducted into the Fascist party ranks on Sunday, the third annual "Lava Fascista." After a big parade they will be given rifles and a Fascist party ticket.

In connection with this new recruitment to the party ranks, a new decalogue for the guidance of Fascist militiamen was issued today. The decalogue says:

"Fascists ought not to believe in perpetual peace. Days spent in prison are always merited. Benito Mussolini is always right. He who merely guards a barrel of gasoline also serves his country. The life of the dues should be dear above all things. A comrade ought to be a brother because he lives with you and thinks as you think. Disobey is the sin of the army. A volunteer has no excuse when he disobeys. Don't ever say 'The government will pay.' Your must and your cartridge case were not given you to waste in idleness."

Charge Teller in Bank at Gary with Embezzlement

A warrant charging embezzlement was issued by United States Commissioner J. L. Surprise at Indianapolis, Ind., yesterday morning. Brainerd E. Griffith, teller of the First National bank of Gary, Griffith is alleged to have taken a total of $8,100 from the bank to meet his losses on the race tracks. Griffith is ill at his home in Gary and service of the warrant will delayed until he recovers.

5 N. Y. BANDITS SHOOT 2, GRAB $38,392 PAYROLL

Hold Up Taxi in Daylight in Greenwich Village.

New York, April 17.—[Special]—

The roar of gunfire interrupted the flow of traffic noises on a narrow Greenwich Village street today. Five armed bandits held up a taxi cab, shot a policeman and a bank messenger and escaped with a $38,392 pay roll.

It was the most daring daylight robbery in many months. Large caliber pistols and sawed-off shotguns were used, and the summary ambush was carefully planned and executed.

The holdup occurred just a block from the Bell Telephone company laboratory where the money for the company's pay roll was headed.

Two Are Wounded.

The injured were Patrolman Joseph Clancy of the Charles street station and Eugene Corley, 17, of Richmond Hill. Clancy was shot three times in the head. Corley was struck in the flesh of the right leg. Neither one's condition is critical. A third messenger in the taxi cab and the taxi driver were not injured.

Clancy and the two messengers collected the pay roll at the Chatham Yacht Club National bank, a few blocks away. A moment after leaving the bank a blue sedan shot across the street and forced the cab into the curb.

Start Shooting at Once.

Almost immediately the shooting began. Five men leaped to the street and leveled pistols and shotguns at the cab. Window glass in the rear doors clattered jingling into the street. The shooting stopped almost as suddenly as it began. Hands were aloft inside the taxi. One bandit reached through the shattered window, guarded by the guns of his companions, and hauled out the box and the pay roll.

The bandits ran, their car roared into action and just as the neighborhood was waking from its shock of paralysis, disappeared.

JAPAN AGREES TO KEEP SHANTUNG
SIX WEEKS MORE

Needs Chinese Request to Delay Evacuation.

By JOHN POWELL,
Chicago Tribune Press Service.
SHANGHAI, April 17.—Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese foreign minister, today received a report from Tokyo that China had requested Japan to temporarily delay evacuation of Shantung province, and that the request had been granted. Wang declared the request was made so as to enable the Nationalist government to concentrate its troops on the Shantung border in view of the bandit leader, Gen. Chang Ching-Chang, who, according to Wang, has approximately 100,000 troops in northern Shantung ready to seize the railroad after the Japanese withdraw.

The Japanese, however, alleged that the real reason is the rivalry between Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang over the control of Shantung province. The Japanese set June 1 as the date on which they will start to retire from Shantung.

Fires On French Gunboat.
PARIS, April 17.—(UPI)—The French government was advised today that Chinese troops opened fire on the French gunboat "Dalin" near Macao on the Yangtze river. The gunboat replied by firing two rounds at the French officer and two sailors were wounded. France protested to the Chinese National government.

Fighting on Three Fronts.
LONDON, April 17.—(UPI)—Fighting has broken out on three sectors of central China's front, a Hankow dispatch to the Daily Mail said today. The Nationalists attacked the remnants of the Hupehites at Shao, about 15 miles below Ichang on the Yangtze river, while another Nationalist force attacked Ichang in order to cut off the retreat of the Wuhanites driven from Hankow two weeks ago. The Kuangshites meanwhile made a strong counter attack on the Nationalists in Hsia and southern Hupeh provinces.

Born Catholic Chapel.
CANTON, China, April 17.—(UPI)—In view of increasingly unsettled conditions and communist activity, Douglas Jenkins, United States consul general, today advised American missionaries in southern Kiangsi and northern Kwangtung and Kwangchow provinces to evacuate their posts.

Bishop O'Brien at Kanchow, Kiangsi, telegraphed that the Roman Catholic chapel at Ngoyuan, Kiangsi, had been burned.

MEXICAN REBELS FORTIFY GUAYMAS FOR LAST STAND

Escobar Prepares to Fight for State of Sonora.

BY JOHN CORNIN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
MEXICO CITY, April 17.—Gen. Genaro Escobar, commander in chief of the Mexican rebel army, has begun to reorganize his followers in the only territory left the rebels, the state of Sonora. Gen. Escobar is raising for tifications north of Guaymas for a final battle.

In addition to the regular soldiers in his army, he has hundreds of men gathered from villages and haciendas who are working on the fortifications. Rebel recruiting officers are busy throughout Sonora, bringing in recruits to Gen. Escobar's army. These are being armed with guns brought from the United States by blockade runners.

Offers Higher Wages.

Arms and ammunition captured from rebels on the uplands in the Pacific coast states are practically all of American make, indicating that the rebels had been collecting materials of war secretly for some time before the outbreak of the revolution six weeks ago. There are many unemployed in Sonora, because of closing of numerous businesses since the outbreak of the conflict, and the Gen. Escobar is offering higher wages than the peons ordinarily get.

The rebel faction under Gen. Francisco R. Madero, which offered Saturday to make peace with the government, apparently has lost ground in Sonora, owing to the refusal of the government to extend peace terms to the rebel leaders. It was said here today that Gen. Escobar, not content with regular recruits, is seizing men and sending them south to join the forces in and about Guaymas, north of which the coming battle probably will be fought.

Federal Occupy San Luis.

Federal troops under Gen. Jaime Carrillo have taken San Luis, Sinaloa, today. The town had been completely deserted by the rebels.

Chapultepec castle was informed today by Gen. Carrillo that in view of the constant activities of the federal forces since their arrival in the state of Sinaloa over two weeks ago, he has decided to give the army a short rest, which will be spent in further organization for the march into the state of Sonora. According to the general, the rear department is in no need to hurry the march of the federal army into Sonora, as it is necessary to give Gen. Juan Almazan time to reach them from the east with 5,000 infantry, cavalry, artillery, and military planes. Gen. Almazan is now at Casa Grande.

Nine National Advertisers Call 41,441 Families Into

"Special Session"

to learn vital new Facts
on the Advertising Dollar

NINE of the country's largest advertisers . . . each working independently of the other . . . conducted nation-wide investigations of family buying and reading habits.

They investigated 41,441 families, living in city, town and country, from coast to coast.

It was like calling a national convention of consumers to a special session—to get their vote on two questions of vital concern to every advertiser.

In every home two principal questions were asked:

1. "Did two or more members of your family influence the purchase of . . ." (the product mentioned here depended upon the particular advertiser asking the question).
2. "What magazine is most generally read and liked by all the members of your family?"

And here are the returns . . . emphatic and unmistakable . . . the verdict of the people!

Every one of the nine advertisers got the same major results. This was true whether they asked about candy, tires, fountain pens, tooth paste, pianos, refrigerators, or phonographs. They found that the great majority of families buy after two or more members of the home group contribute opinions and advice. Of the total replies, 67.8% agreed on this point.

And every one of the nine found that the same magazine—The American Magazine—was the overwhelming favorite with the whole family. In 58.9% of the cases this preference was given.

These investigations establish definitely the principle of family influence on buying—and point the way unmistakably to The American Magazine as the most effective and economical medium for reaching the whole family in 2,200,000 homes. Write or telephone for further details on these investigations.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The most interesting moments in radio last evening were two police squad dashes from W-G-N, the first coming at 8:20 when Quin Ryan flashed a notice to the police squad that a robbery had occurred, giving a description of the robbers' automobile; the second, five minutes later, when Mr. Ryan cut into a program to announce that the robbers had been captured.

The most interesting moments of W-CFL, the federation's broadcasting station, for a more favorable frequency assignment, Olander attacked the Nov. 11 reallocation, charged the federation had adopted regulations charging that the desirable waves were given over to "capitalistic interests and metropolitan news papers."

Commissioner Sykes, vice chairman of the commission, demanded to know what Olander knew about the reclassification setup or the technical difficulties encountered in mapping it. Olander admitted that while he was one of the authors of the resolution he had never studied the reclassification and that his information is "second hand."

It was a clear cut piece of colorful music, easy to grasp, ingratiating, soothing, and of the kind that would instantly appeal to the mass print circulation which is provided by most orchestras. It was announced that during this weekly program bigger and better numbers are to be played. So we may hear more illustrations in kind next week, and if so, they will be worth paying close attention to.

As usual on Wednesday evenings there was nothing much in the regular program, but there was probably nothing better than the New York program through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30, featuring Miss Olive Palmer, soprano, and Paul Oliver, tenor, and a studio orchestra.

Charles H. Chrysler, newly elected president of the village board of Oak Park, was sworn into office last night in the village hall before a gathering of 1,800 citizens, including the retiring president, William McFeeley. Mr. Chrysler's former political associate, whom he defeated for reelection, the village clerk, Henry Leadman, administered the oath, after which the retiring and incoming presidents delivered short speeches. Mr. Chrysler was formerly campaign manager for Mr. McFeeley, who had served seven years as village president.

Alice White

Saves dress and film goes on!

HOLLYWOOD, CAL.—Alice White's ingenuity resulted in a temporary arrangement of production on her new film—and a loss of thousands of dollars an hour to First National studios.

In the midst of a ballroom scene, Miss White spilled punch down the front of her chiffon dancing frock. Consternation reigned—then Alice White herself saved the day.

Calling her maid, she instructed her to wash the dress in Lux. In 30 minutes the dress, dried quickly by electric fan, looked like new!

"Every girl knows how marvelous her frocks look cleaned in Lux," Miss White said—and our own department store girls do regularly. These pretty clothes can be kept gorgeously new looking ever so much longer with Lux. Today's incident merely illustrates dramatically the marvelous work Lux does in double-quick time."

FIGHT ON COMMITTEE LIST IS EXPECTED IN NEW COUNCIL TONIGHT

Indications yesterday were that the city administration will come tonight when the fifty members of the new council will be sworn in formally as they take their seats for the next two years. The opposition to the administration will open up, it was said, when the report of the committee on committees on appointments and rules is submitted to the council.

"The report of committee assignments is nothing to be proud of," said Ald. Charles S. Eaton (18th), who is returning to the council after absence of two years. "It is an attempt to seal Thompsonism upon the city for another two years and I will vote against it."

He was supported in his stand by Ald. Arthur Albert (43rd), who was ousted from the council two years ago by the administration. "The committee appointments, as any one can see, are designed to bring the Thompson rule back into the city hall again after he finishes this term," Ald. Alvin E. Eaton, Charles E. Eaton, Archie Walker. They are opposed by Bert McDonald and William Eaton of California.

RADIO OFFICIAL ANSWERS CHARGE OF LABOR CHIEF

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—Victor Olander, Chicago labor leader, rebuked Radio Commissioners yesterday. E. O. Sykes, code for his part in the framing of resolutions which adopted the Chicago Federation of Labor, denounced the commission's recent allocation of radio facilities.

During the hearing of the petition of W-CFL, the federation's broadcasting station, for a more favorable frequency assignment, Olander attacked the Nov. 11 reallocation, charged the federation had adopted regulations which provided that the desirable waves were given over to "capitalistic interests and metropolitan news papers."

Olander admitted that while he was one of the authors of the resolution

he had never studied the reclassificahand."

It was a clear cut piece of colorful music, easy to grasp, ingratiating, soothing, and of the kind that would instantly appeal to the mass print circulation which is provided by most orchestras. It was announced that during this weekly program bigger and better numbers are to be played.

So we may hear more illustrations in kind next week, and if so, they will be worth paying close attention to.

As usual on Wednesday evenings there was nothing much in the regular program, but there was probably nothing better than the New York program through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30, featuring

Miss Olive Palmer, soprano, and Paul

Oliver, tenor, and a studio orchestra.

Commissioner Sykes, vice chairman of the commission, demanded to know what Olander knew about the reclassification setup or the technical difficulties encountered in mapping it.

HOUSE VOTES TO KILL WISCONSIN PROHIBITION ACT

Grobschmidt Repeal Bill Passed, 56 to 33.

Madison, Wis., April 17.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin assembly today voted to repeal the state dry act and wipe out the state prohibition commission. There was little debate. The 153,000 majority in favor of dry law repeal in the recent referendum had decided every vote and the repealer was rushed through final passage and messaged to the senate so it can get final legislative action in the shortest possible time.

The vote came on the Grobschmidt bill, one of three repealers in the legislature, but it carried a substitute amendment that was drawn by Senator Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee, author of the referendum plan.

Vote Is 56 to 33.

After the assembly had turned down a motion for indefinite postponement, the bill was engrossed by a vote of 57 to 32, and then under a suspension of the rules the measure was passed and messaged to the upper house. The vote on final passage was 56 to 33.

The measure definitely takes the state out of prohibition enforcement, but leaves the matter optional with municipalities. Cities and villages can adopt any regulatory or prohibitory ordinances they see fit. If they want to they can adopt the abandoned state dry code as their own, but effective only within their own borders.

Defeat County Amendment.

Assemblyman J. D. Miller, Menomonee, offered an amendment to permit counties to enact prohibition codes by a vote of the county board, but it was rejected 55 to 53.

Assemblyman Wallace Ingalls, Racine, led the dry fight in the lower house. The majority of the discussion on the question came in short explanations of votes.

Attorney Gets Six Months in Jail on Rum Charge

Attorney Thomas V. Novotny, who organized the so-called Republican Guards of Cook county and was held on a charge of shaking down saloonkeepers in connection with the organization, was given six months in jail yesterday by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley for violation of national prohibition laws. Since the attorney has already been in jail five months the court ruled that he need serve but one month more. At the end of that time he will be placed on probation for two years and must report at intervals to Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson, Judge Lindley ruled.

TWO KILLED BY TRAIN.
Two section hands, John Marcellini and Frank S. Goss, of the Chicago and North Western railroad in the 1000 Carpenter and 11th streets, were killed yesterday when they were struck by a suburban train.

EX-DRAGON LINKS MOB GUNMEN TO HIS CONVICTION

Stephenson Tells Why He Didn't Testify.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—[Special.]—Attorneys for D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Klux Klan dragon of Indiana, political cause célèbre, charged that Stephenson started mob violence and the gunmen were in the courtroom in Noblesville, Ind., when Stephenson was tried and convicted for murder of an Indianapolis young woman.

Stephenson now is serving a life sentence in state prison. The charges were contained in two briefs filed with the State Supreme court in answer to the demurral of Attorney General James M. Ogle, the remaining specification of his thirty-two included in Stephenson's petition last year for a writ of error.

The prisoner also has pending before the State Supreme court, a direct appeal for a new trial. Felix Blankenbaker of Terre Haute, latest of a long line of legal representatives for Stephenson, filed the proceedings, including affidavits of Ira M. Holmes, Indianapolis, who was present at the trial; Paul B. Newman, Indianapolis, former Stephenson attorney, and Charles F. Lowe, Covington, former Klan workers, and by Stephenson, declaring that gunmen were present and disturbances were purposely planned to influence the jury's decision.

"Mob violence was present at all times," says the Holmes deposition. Coverage of the trial by out-of-town newspaper men also charged. It is declared that the judge only once descended the galleries although "they hit defense attorneys."

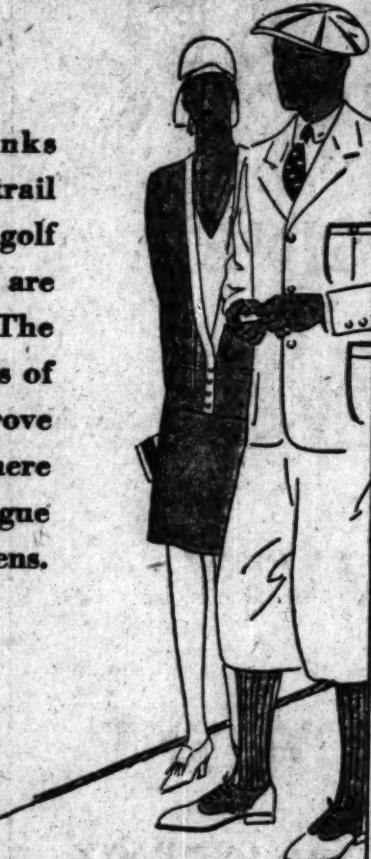

Newman declares Stephenson would have been mobbed if acquitted. Lowe contended he was hired to "scatter poisoned propaganda against Stephenson" in Hamilton county, where the trial was held.

Blankenbaker argues Stephenson feared to take the stand in his own defense, "because he would have been mobbed."

LOCOMOTIVE KILLS WORKMAN.
A gasoline locomotive in the Pressed Steel car plant at Brandon avenue and 136th street struck and killed a workman, George Schurts, 42 years old, 23½ East 136th street, yesterday.

New York, April 17.—(Special)—With Hoover administration starts No 1 and No. 2, Miss Helen Wills, sailing with her mother, Mrs. Wills, on the Aquitania tonight made the tenth court of the old club for the sixth time and possibly went for the first time. "Never any less poorly," Mrs. Wills said with her mother's modesty, when asked how Miss Wills is playing now, but she preferred to say nothing about reports of a presentation to the British court because, she said, arrangements were still indefinite.

"Four times a week she practiced last winter," Mrs. Wills said, "never more than two sets at a time. I can't say that she has lost the style of her game in any sense, but she has merely kept it form."

To Return in July.

Wills will return for the national tournament in July and for several tournaments in the east, in team matches abroad. Miss Edith Cross of San Francisco and Miss Marjorie Morrell of Mass., who will sail Wednesdays on the Berengaria. They will be in Paris.

Miss Wills will play in four foreign countries and probably will be present at the British court early in May, while Miss Collett will compete for British and German golf championships.

Purdue's baseball nine will be out against Washington Saturday afternoon when it takes the field against Coach Wally Mark's State Normal squad. The game will mark the final tilt of the year against a non-conference state and will give the Boilmakers their last test before they plunge back into the midst of the Big Ten campaign. ## Rigors of Winter Damage North Shore Clubs' Greens

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Winter kill has damaged a lot of greens on north shore golf clubs, but most of them need only a week or so of warm weather to come back. Those few warm days a couple of weeks ago, combined with the sharp weather which came immediately after did most of the damage. Greens which were coming beautifully before that reversal in temperatures are now brown.

North Shore Golf club's course, contrast to many others, came through the winter in excellent condition, only the ninth and eighteenth holes on each side of the fairway, one to penalize wild tee shots. Another new trap is being put in front of the green on the fourteenth and another on the eighth built up and made deeper. Many trees have been planted on the course, adding both hazards and improving the landscaping.

Laurie Arton, professional at Evanson, played four holes yesterday, evidencing he is recovering from a severe attack of muscular rheumatism which kept him in bed most of the winter. He's limited to four holes a day by his physician as yet, but is rounding into the condition and form that set a course record of 63.

Westmoor will officially open its new 27 hole course Saturday, Sidney Salinger, president of the club, reports. A hard times party will be held at the clubhouse Sunday in celebration of the opening. Sam Gayer is pro at Westmoor, which has a membership limit of 300.

Members and the chaps lucky enough to be invited to play Evanson will find several of the tee shots tighter this summer than last year, as eight or ten new sand traps are being built. The second hole will

Lake Forest Nips Maroon Nine, 1 to 0

BY BOB BECKER.

Lake Forest college again took the measure of Fritz Crisler's Maroon ball team yesterday on the latter's diamond. The North Shore nine edged out with a 1, 0 margin.

The affair was largely a pitchers' battle with Mayer leading. Fourteen allowings only one safe blow, while his mates were collecting eight of Capt. Kaplan of the Midway team, Kaplan, however, struck out nine opposing batters against eight for Mayer. Kaplan issued the only pass of the afternoon.

Failure to hit proved the Maroon's downfall again. Lake Forest was equally ineffective at the plate when hitting was rare.

Only two extra base drives were recorded during the performance. Urbon cracking a double to right and Roskie of Lake Forest duplicating the performance to left. Box score:

DURNELL ENTERS 7 HORSES FOR AMERICAN DERBY

Royal Ford Only Unknown of 3 Year Olds.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Boots Durnell of Chicago, who trains the race horses owned by W. T. Waggoner of Texas, isn't going to let a little thing like failure to get a license to train horses in New York interfere with his turf plans.

Mr. Durnell, whose quarrel with the jockey club has been of long standing, came through yesterday with seven nominations from the Texas Three D's stable for the American Derby. It is reported he will name two more horses to run odds for the American Classic to be decided at Arlington park on July 13.

Some of these three year olds are eligible for the Belmont stakes, to be run in New York. But if they go after that rich prize some one other than Mr. Durnell will have to saddle them.

Qutt Turf for 15 Years.

No one seems to know just what caused Mr. Durnell's quarrel with the jockey club. It apparently was serious at the time it started, for immediately afterwards Durnell quit the American turf and spent some 15 years in Europe. He trained the king's stable in Roumania for several years.

When he returned to this country less than half a dozen years ago, Durnell first became identified with the Wild Rose farm stable of Chicago. It was owned then by Val Crane and Ben Rosenheim. Durnell applied for a license in Kentucky. He got his training papers after considerable difficulty.

Since then Durnell has been licensed on all tracks in the United States except New York. When he shipped three candidates to Belmont last fall to start in the Futurity he had to be sent along to saddle them because he was still unlicensed by the Jockey club.

Yet Durnell has been afforded the privileges of all New York tracks, and during the last two seasons at Saratoga has, with the millionaire, Mr. Waggoner, been the most liberal buyer at the annual yearling sales.

Royal Ford Mysterious Unknown.

The seven horses he names for the American Derby were Double Heart, Royal Ford, Fanchio, Cali Roper, Prince Pat, War Time, and Vermao. All these young thoroughbreds raced on Chicago tracks last season except Royal Ford.

Durnell is noted for his ability to slip long shots first pass the line of finish. And the Chicagoans who are studying the 2 year old championship situation are beginning to wonder who this mysterious Royal Ford might be.

He was one of the expensive yearling purchases which Durnell made at Saratoga, but so far has never started in a race. He was bred in Germany by Baron Werner von Lynches. His sire is Swynford and he is out of the mare, Royal Yoke.

Four of the Kentucky Derby entries were made public Royal Ford has been a 100 to 1 shot to win that race, yet reports trickle in from the Texas training camp of Durnell that the colt has shown great speed and staying ability.

He confessed, police say, to having staged the attempted robbery merely for a thrill.

Mill Stockholders Share in Melon.

BY O. A. MATHER.
Mill stockholders of record May 1 aggregating around $25,000,000 will receive yesterday to gladden the hearts of stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Canadian Pacific railroads.

Directors of the Baltimore and Ohio decided to offer both common and preferred stockholders of record May 1 right to subscribe to additional common stock to the extent of 15 per cent of the interstate commerce corporation. In other words, 1 new share may be purchased at $100 for each 6 1/2 shares held. At yesterday's market price of around 125 for common stock the rights would be worth about $3, and the rights on the preferred shares would be worth about $1. The total value of rights on the present outstanding common and preferred stocks would be worth about $8,000,000. The rights expire June 20.

W.H. Finance Requirements.
Under this plan the railroad will issue $1,077 additional common stock which will receive approximately $100,000, which will be used to meet current requirements and its cost of extensive additions and improvements. The new stock may be paid for in full on subscription or paid at that time and the balance Dec. 2.

The Canadian Pacific is offering 100,000 shares of new stock at $170 a share to stockholders of record May 1 in the ratio of one new share for every three held. At yesterday's market price of $24 for the old, the rights would be worth about $1.50 a share on the present outstanding stock, plus a dividend of about $17,000,000. The subscription rights expire June 11. In addition, the railroad also is offering 50,000 shares to officers and employees at $170 a share.

No more of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe increased slightly last week, to the annual report of W. H. Stevens, Vice President. The company early part of 1928 was lighter than in 1927, although conditions improved later on. A large volume of freight is expected in the early months of this year. Net income for 1928 was $49,000, equivalent after preferred dividends to $18.00 a share on the outstanding stock. Net income in 1927 was $40,000.

Steel Pace Slackers.
The revenue of the Illinois Central last month will be about lower than in March, 1928, but operating income will be $200,000 lower, according to the latest reports from the railroads. However, the figures show improvement over a month ago and this progress is expected to continue.

A slight letdown in the record pace of the steel industry is reported in mid-week reviews, although the sales of the Chicago district are still running virtually at capacity.

"Business in finished steel is no longer equal to shipments, except in the Chicago district," the iron men say. "A setup in bookings was suspected, in view of the unusual activity in committees of producers, and many indicate nothing but an interlude between buyouts."

American Shipbuilding Is Far From Being the Industry It Was in 1919

Find Coal Is Losing Out as Energy Source

BY SCRUTATOR.

Coal consumption has failed to increase during recent years at a rate in keeping with the use of power and the general extension of industry. The result has been a failure of many coal companies to make profits and a lack in many sections of full-time work for miners.

F. G. Tryon, of the government's bureau of mines, has found that the condition is world wide and is attributed to the increased use of alternative sources of energy—notably petroleum, natural gas, and water power.

Since 1915, according to his figures, the total production of coal in all countries has increased just 1 per cent. During the same period, the output of petroleum rose from 385 million barrels annually to a billion 225 million barrels. Natural gas, used extensively only in the United States, nearly tripled and in 1928 furnished as much energy as could have been obtained from 36 million tons of coal.

Water Power Increases.

As for water power, its increase in the fifteen years under discussion is 166 per cent and the world's supply was equal to 160 million tons of coal last year.

Closely, as Mr. Tryon points out, this extraordinary increase in other power does not always directly displace coal. The petroleum products will want that raw coal could not meet. However, he says, even motor fuel does make invisible competition for coal; if gasoline had not been invented it is likely that some form of light transport other than the automobile would have been invented. Possibly this transportation would have been driven by coal generating electricity.

The securities will consist of two issues, $5,000,000 of 6 per cent sinking fund convertible debentures and 350,000 shares of common stock. The debentures will be offered by a syndicate at 99 1/2 and interest and the common stock will be priced at $24.50 a share. The debentures, which mature April 1, 1944, are convertible any time prior to maturity or redemption in the ratio of 20 1/2 shares of stock for each $1,000 debenture, at the rate of $30 a share.

The company will acquire controlling interest in the Parmelee company of Chicago and the Yellow Taxi corporation of New York. It will also acquire a substantial interest in the outstanding stock of the Chicago Yellow Cab company.

ANNOUNCE FINANCING FOR NEW PARMELEE TRANSPORTATION CO.

The financing of the new Parmelee Transportation company, holding company for a corporation which will operate some of the principal motor transport and cab companies of the United States, was announced last night.

The securities will consist of two issues, $5,000,000 of 6 per cent sinking fund convertible debentures and 350,000 shares of common stock. The debentures will be offered by a syndicate at 99 1/2 and interest and the common stock will be priced at $24.50 a share.

U.S. STEEL MAY RIDI SUBSIDIARIES OF FUNDED DEBT

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, April 17.—After completing the $271,385,000 bond redemption program on which it is now engaged, the United States Steel corporation probably will take steps to retire part of the funded debt of subsidiaries.

Plans for the retirement of the subsidiary companies' bonds are yet to be developed, it was learned today. The bonds are divided among a number of issues, some of which are noncallable. It is understood, however, that the corporation plans to retire the callable issues where it can be done to advantage.

According to calculations made today, the Steel corporation will increase its earnings by $20,000,000, as a result of the bond reduction program already adopted. This figure makes allowance for government taxes on the increased income and the adjustment of interest from the use of the corporation's own funds in carrying out the retirement.

U. S. TREASURY STATEMENT

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17.—The following is a statement of the condition of the United States treasury on April 15, 1929, compared with the same date in 1928. Income to date from January 1 to April 15, 1929, is shown below:

Decrease	$ 111,167,485
Other income this year	2,855,397
Income over outgo last year	284,604,284
Balance general fund today	342,903,600
Balance previous day	342,903,600
Decrease	$ 8,670,573

The Lerner Stores corporation, of New York, has purchased for $215,000 one twenty-five feet of frontage on New York's South Ferry, between Louis P. and Hattie Mann. The two story building, when the present lease to Morris Siegen expires on April 20, 1933, will be remodeled and used by the new owners for one of their women's ready to wear stores. The corporation now operates 115 stores, two of which are in Chicago.

His estimate placed the total saving or replacement of coal at 214 million tons. In other words, the production would have increased that much since 1919 had combustion efficiency remained the same and the use of fuel oil and water power failed to increase.

It appears that, until the present cheap oil supply of the world is exhausted and the practical limit of water development is reached, the coal industry must resign itself to a condition of stationary demand.

New York, April 17.—The Lancia Motors of America, Inc., a company which turned out only two cars by the Federal Securities corporation was halted today by an injunction issued by Justice Lewis L. Fawcett of the Supreme court.

Justice Fawcett also appointed the Irving Trust company to be receiver for the Federal Securities corporation in an order which restricted the receiver's activities to dealing with the money received by the Federal Securities corporation for the sale of stock in the Lancia Motors of America, Inc.

UPTOWN HOTELS COMBINE TO CUT OPERATING COST

Six Concerns Effect Partial Merger.

BY AL CHASE.

Following the modern economic trend toward consolidation, six hotels in the uptown district, having a total of 1,361 rooms have just completed plans to cooperative advertising and partial operation. The half dozen hoteliers are the Sheridan Plaza, the Clarendon Beach, the Chelsea, the Uptown, the Leland, and the Melbourne.

According to George White, manager of the Clarendon Beach hotel, it is believed that, this initial move towards cooperation will eventually lead to complete ownership of the six hotel properties, perhaps under one central management.

For the present, however, the merger will be along the lines of cooperative buying, etc.

Supplies will be purchased for the six hotels by one buyer and at one time.

Managers of the hotels will be responsible for all future publicity will tell the world at one time about the entire half dozen.

Corporation to Be Formed.

A reason why coal consumption is little more than stationary lies in the improved methods used by combustion engineers. The railroads estimate that since 1923 they have increased the efficiency with which they burn fuel so that twenty million tons were saved in 1928, while the old methods had remained in force more than ninety million tons additional would have been required in the last five years.

Excess of Miners.

From another source comes corroboration of the ideas advanced by Mr. Tryon. Ellis Searies, editor of a labor journal, writing in Current History, notes that the excess of man power over those needed to produce the annual supply in the country is 200,000. In 1926, he states, 594,000 men mined 573 million tons and had work on the average only 215 days in the year.

His estimate placed the total saving or replacement of coal at 214 million tons. In other words, the production would have increased that much since 1919 had combustion efficiency remained the same and the use of fuel oil and water power failed to increase.

It appears that, until the present cheap oil supply of the world is exhausted and the practical limit of water development is reached, the coal industry must resign itself to a condition of stationary demand.

Plans for Retirement of Subsidiary Bonds.

The corporation has called its own fifty year bonds, aggregating $134,000,000, for payment on Sept. 1, and also is planning to redeem its 1930, 35 and 40 year issues, amounting to $135,500,000, on Nov. 1. This will leave the parent company entirely free of funded debt.

Plans for the retirement of the subsidiary companies' bonds are yet to be developed, it was learned today. The bonds are divided among a number of issues, some of which are noncallable.

It is understood, however, that the corporation plans to retire the callable issues where it can be done to advantage.

According to calculations made today, the Steel corporation will increase its earnings by $20,000,000, as a result of the bond reduction program already adopted. This figure makes allowance for government taxes on the increased income and the adjustment of interest from the use of the corporation's own funds in carrying out the retirement.

AMERICAN FIRM BUYS SHANGHAI UTILITY CO. FOR SUM OF 50 MILLION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

SHANGHAI, April 17.—The foreign residents of Shanghai's international community today voted almost unanimously to sell the electric light and power system to the American and Foreign Power company, a subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share corporation of New York. The price agreed upon is approximately 50 million dollars, and a considerably higher bid than was made by the British company that was trying to make the purchase.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Another step towards the abandonment of the government shipping operations was taken today by the shipping board with the announcement that it would open bids on May 22 for the sale of the American Diamond Lines and the America-France Line, two trans-Atlantic cargo services consisting of 23 vessels with a total tonnage of 189,000.

Negotiations for sale of two other lines, American Republics Line, a cargo service to South America from the Atlantic coast with 14 ships, and the Mediterranean Line with 10 vessels of 115,000 tons, also are in progress.

Reduces Fleet.

The sale of these four lines will reduce the shipping board's fleet to fifteen lines and 182 ships. At the end of the war the fleet operating under the shipping board consisted of 2,558 ships with a total tonnage of 14,706,217.

The new negotiations under way led to predictions by shipping board officials that its entire fleet will be sold within two years. Then the board's functions will revert to a regulatory capacity with jurisdiction over rate agreements between shipping lines for domestic traffic and the administration of the $250,000,000 construction loan fund.

The fleet of the shipping board was started in 1917 and since that time approximately four billion dollars has been expended by the board in constructing and operating its huge group of vessels.

Terms of Sale.

Now only cargo services remain under the board's operation. Its last passenger service, the United States Lines, including the trans-Atlantic liner Leviathan, was sold recently to W. Chapman and company for $16,000,000. The remaining cargo services, except the four lines expected to be sold soon, mainly are lines operating from the Pacific coast to Australia and from the Gulf Europe.

Under the terms of the sale of the America-France Line and the American Diamond Lines the board specified that a guarantee of five years' operation of those services must be maintained by the purchasers. The America-France Line operates between north Atlantic ports and France and the north Atlantic ports and Holland and Belgium.

FEARS DISAPPEAR IN CURB TRADING; PRICES ADVANCE

Aluminum Corp. Shares Rise 10½ Points.

(New York curb list page 32.)

New York, April 16.—All the interests belonged to the bull on the exchange today, with a pronounced increase in activity. A vigorous strength developed through the day trading, and speculative timidly was discarded, with advancing prices. Several high priced issues proved unusually buoyant, while aggressive buying was the keynote for demonstrating in a number of utilities.

Operating operations accounted for much of the improvement, but despite that character was written largely in issues which had been most during the reaction of the month or so. There was evidence that outside participation was attracted, due perhaps to easier credit, but more especially to the fact that the technical condition of the market appeared stronger.

Aluminum Corporation of America was the center of interest, climbing 10½ points on top of its previous rise. The movement was a reflection of the company's earning outlook of the coming year.

Last year's profits were more than twice those of the preceding twelve months.

Bendix corporation moved sharply higher following announcement that a special stockholders' meeting will be held May 7 to vote on exchanging the stock for that of the Bendix Aviation corporation.

Standard Oil good standing in Division of Ohio, the petroleum division, was a point of feature, although strong trading.

Trading in rights to subscribe to the new offering of United States Steel common started at 10:30, with the price fluctuating between 14 and 15½ practically all day. The option closed at 5%.

President Seubert Denies Pan-American Rumor

President Edward G. Seubert of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday stated that reports to the effect that the directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana will shortly offer to acquire the minority stock interest in the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company are without foundation. The Standard Oil group owns a majority interest in the Pan-American firm.

MRoad Freight

On March 30, North Western railway had 1,000 revenue freight cars during the four weeks of April, compared with 1,000 cars in the same period in 1928. The Illinois Central had 6,700 cars compared with 6,262 cars. The Illinois-Kansas-Texas handled 11,275 cars during the week ending April 13, compared with 11,275 cars handled by the Missouri Pacific during the week ending April 13, with 28,962 cars.

NATIONAL ACCOUNTING MACHINE

IN THIS AGE OF BUSINESS MACHINES, EVERY FUNCTION IN THE KEEPING OF RECORDS AND THE HANDLING OF MONEY CAN NOW BE PERFORMED BY THE PRODUCTS OF THE NATIONAL CASH REGISTER COMPANY

THE National Cash Register Company—world's largest manufacturer of cash registers and record keeping equipment—now rounds out its service to business by adding to its products a machine which does the work of a typewriting, bookkeeping and accounting machine. The fact that it accommodates a wide range of forms and enables the operator to write any amount of descriptive matter makes it a very flexible and practical machine.

Formerly known as the Ellis Adding-Typewriter, this machine has made a favorable name for itself in the world of business.

Its speed, visibility and ease of operation have brought it favor wherever it has been used.

From now on this machine will be known as the National Accounting Machine.

Behind it are the resources and experience of The National Cash Register Company. The same principles of world-wide service are back of every sale and every machine in use.

This new National Accounting Machine meets—and fills—a distinct need in the effective control of business. It makes obsolete the slowness and inaccuracy of hand-written methods.

Let us show you how this new product of The National Cash Register Company will save time and money in your business. Write us at Dayton or call your local National Cash Register office—Phone: Randolph 4600.

UNITED ARTISTS ...A Balaban & Katz Theater

We are proud to announce that the United Artists Corporation—consisting of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Joseph M. Schenck, D. W. Griffith and others—has merged its United Artists Theater with the great family of Balaban & Katz theaters. By this important affiliation, the beautiful United Artists Theater will enjoy the tremendous advantages and great resources of the Balaban & Katz organization. Instead of presenting United Artists' productions exclusively, it will now have unlimited choice of the foremost productions from every corner of the world.

This means, too, that Balaban & Katz Loop Theaters are assured for the next ten years of the first exclusive showing of ALL the outstanding productions from ALL the motion picture producing companies—United Artists, Paramount-Famous-Lasky, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Fox, First National, Warner Brothers, Universal and others. We make this announcement with a deep and sincere appreciation of our increased responsibility to Chicago theatergoers—and we are happy that the United Artists Theater comes under our management with the first all-talking picture of America's premier screen artist—MARY PICKFORD.

See and hear her TOMORROW in the dramatic triumph which was presented here on the stage by Helen Hayes.

Society Makes Summer Plans Ahead of Time

BY THALIA

There apparently are so such things as "idle minute plans" in the arrangements of Chicago's smart contingent. Summer plans are pretty well set in fashionable households, and the most choice has already been made since going abroad, spending six months in the country, going one of the eastern resorts, or to California.

Typical are they who have enjoyed previous summers so well that no question in their minds, need to repeat their experiences. Of these are the Herbert E. Schwartzes of 1310 Lake Shore drive, who have their passage booked for the latter part of May for Europe. They will be married, as they have been engaged for several years.

The Joseph T. Ryersons, including the four youngsters, is to pack for California for the first days of July to be in Santa Barbara for the summer months.

The Howard Ellings have in mind one of those delightful motor trips on the continent, with Germany and Austria in their itinerary. Mrs. William Elling and her daughter, Miss Olga Walker of 1356 Dearborn parkway, are also planning to go abroad in the summer. They will motor in England and Ireland, and will spend some time in France.

Joseph E. Ott Jr., and his father are to join the large Chicago crew at Harbor Point, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers will go, too, to their place at Watch Hill, R. I. The Charles Garfield Kings have taken a house in Santa Barbara, Calif., and their son-in-law, Clarence R. Gould, whose health has necessitated a long stay in the west, and Mrs. Gould will be with them for all or most of their stay.

Mr. Julius T. Benedict is so refreshingly forthright. The other afternoon when she was telling the dinner and cigar committee for the Masonic Center dinner-dance at the Bemas on April 27, she said: "We are to spend any money if we don't have to, so if no more cigar dealers are willing to contribute, you can get your friends to contribute a few nickels each." The young women who are to assist the chairmen, Mary Armstrong and Cecilia Corboy, in this worthy project include Agnes Ambert, Esther Bagley, Virginia Collins, Florence Crum, Eleanor Denney, Virgin Dixon, Geradine Dunne, Mary Fortune, Marian Gilman, Anna Colleen Hard, Helen Hurley, Margaret Johnson, Florence Murphy, Margaret Marion Ortsell, Dorothy Plamondon, and Virginia Tracy.

The junior Friends of Art are to have their to the last meeting of the year next Tuesday, a party at the Edison theater. Mrs. Nathaniel Lewin is in charge of making the arrangements. Tea in the lounge will be matines. Miss Olga Menn, a guest is arriving in a few days for a lengthy trip west and will be present. The last meeting of the season is set for May 14 at the Blackstone.

The Charles S. Dewey family's many Chicago friends have received invitations to Miss Suzette's marriage to Algier Jr., to take place April 26 in Warsaw, Poland, even though the possibilities of their attending are small. The service is to be read at the Evangelicki, which is across the street from the palace of the Council of Ministers. The arrangements indicate that Mr. Algier and his bride-to-be are not planning to up their residence in Warsaw until November, the third being their date they have set.

Miss Angela Downey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Downey of Oak Park, is coming from New York City, where her interesting job keeps her quite engrossed, for a visit especially to the city. She is making the hotel Lighthouse supper dances, the hotel Sherman on May 3, as she has been active in the Lighthouse activities having been chairman of the annual party 4 years ago. Miss Downey's marriage to Edward Fargo Jr. is to take place next fall, and she has no doubt make some of the necessary arrangements for the wedding in town.

Miss Helen Tiesen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Tiesen of 229 Lake Drive, will direct the program presented at the Art Institute's Student's ball on May 1 at the Congress hotel. Miss Tiesen received her master of arts from the University of Chicago after a course of study of the American.

Mrs. Charles King Corsant, who has gone to Highland Park for the month, is to give a luncheon at the Stevens hotel on Wednesday, May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harvey and daughter, Miss Roberta Harvey, decided to prolong their stay at the Stevens hotel, Cal., for another three weeks.

Sugar's five uses in the diet . . .

Authority explains this delicious food

We RECENTLY asked the food scientist at one of the great universities to describe the right place of sugar in the diet. "Sugar has five distinctive uses," he said. "1. A conservator of foods. 2. A flavoring substance. 3. A satiation factor. 4. A staple fuel. 5. An energy fuel."

The scientist showed that sugar is used as a conservator of many foods, especially fruits. Discussing sugar as a flavorer, the scientist said: "One of the most noteworthy developments of the modern era lies in the recognition that sugar is an important factor in the flavoring of foods."

All results which good dentifrices have sought to give you are combined here. Gentle polishing—invigoration and protection for the gums—refreshing flavor cools and sweetens the of fresh fruits . . . combining on the five availability of sugar."

Discussing sugar as a satiation factor, he said: "Topping off the meal with a sweet dessert gives a sense of satiation . . . an important item in the diet."

The scientist pointed out that "sugar as a staple fuel ranks with starch . . . sugar is more rapidly digested than starch; otherwise they are entirely comparable fuels."

He then defined the use of sugar as an emergency fuel. "The rapid absorption is so rapid," he said, "that sugar appears in the muscles (the fire-box of the body) within a few minutes after ingestion."

So it is that sugar is one of the most useful and least expensive foods. As a flavorer alone, it deserves a place in every diet for making other healthful foods delicious.

Eat all kinds of healthful fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, sweetening for pleasure, remembering the satiation value of ice cream, cookies and cakes for dessert. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The sugar is delicious."

Field Museum Gets $400,000 Gifts from Variety of Sources

Individual cash contributions to the various activities of the Field museum during 1928 totalled over $400,000, according to figures contained in the annual report of Stephen C. Simms, director of the museum, made public yesterday.

The bulk of the donations, the report shows, were made in large sums for specific purposes, notably to finance scientific expeditions and for the establishment of funds to provide lectures on natural history and allied sciences. Among the outstanding benefactors of the museum were William V. Kelley, who gave $100,000 to defray the expenses of the William V. M. Roosevelt expedition to the Orient; Asia, now in the field under the leadership of Col. Theodore Roosevelt; Capt. Marshall Field, $100,000; Stanley Field, $80,000, to be divided between the building fund deficit, the 1928 operating deficit, and the Stanley Field laboratories in the museum.

Besides the larger individual donations, several thousand members paid dues in the sums of $10, $25, $50, $100, and $500 each, according to membership classification.

Gifts of collections of specimens averaging in value more than the total of the cash contributions were received from several hundred persons.

Spare Your Child
Talk About Illness and Operations

*Holiday Inn
Browns
Huntington*

He had an old fashioned stomach-ache which had never caused him any mental distress before, but this time a look of fear came into his eyes and finally he cried. His mother tried to comfort him and, finding she made no answer, began to question him.

"As quick as a flash of tears he said, "O, Mommie, do you think I've got appendicitis and will have to be taken away in the ambulance and operated on?"

As his mother realized he had tried to change his thoughts, she mentally rallied against all the conversations that he had been forced to listen to during his frequent visits to the doctor and from which he could not spare him. There was a playmate whose sudden attack, detailed symptoms, journey to the hospital, operation, etc., had been discussed to the limit.

There was a house guest who had miraculously come back from the gates of death after a severe and serious appendix operation. There was still from another adult who had had what she called at the time "an old fashioned stomach-ache" and which proved to be another operative case. All this had had the effect of giving a sinister aspect to a familiar discomfort.

Because you can't be everywhere that your children are all the time, or for social reasons, perhaps it isn't possible to keep discussions of painful ailments from the ears. But whenever and whenever you can, try not to let them hear descriptions of operations and the retelling of symptoms and the dwelling upon of aches and pains.

In the first place, it is not sunny, wholesome thinking for childlike minds. And secondly, once it is apt to make a child give too much importance to his symptoms, or make him fearful of the consequences of actual pain. People of all schools of belief—doctors themselves—recognize that an apprehensive state of mind is not good for the body.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Peanut Brittle.

It is picnic time, since summer time is at hand. This following recipe for peanut brittle is good to make for picnics and in summer. It was recommended to me a long time ago by some one who had taken it from "American Cookery" and reads:

"One and one-half cups of granulated sugar, half a cup of corn syrup, and two-thirds of a cup of water to about 270 degrees F., or until brittle in cold water; add two tablespoons of butter and half a pound of small raw Spanish peanuts, parched or not as desired. Stirring constantly, when the nuts are thoroughly cooked; add a tea-spoonful of soda dissolved in a table-spoon of cold water and stir vigorously. When the mixture is thoroughly foaming turn it on an oiled marble or platter, let cool somewhat, then turn with a spatula and pull into as thin a sheet as possible." You can easily pull this candy into little pieces if you work before it gets cold and sets.

You must not forget about the soda, for that makes this candy, really. It seems to me best to scald and dry the nuts beforehand, after which the skins will be dainty and light of color, so that it does not seem necessary that they should be rubbed off.

Ten minutes of cooking of the peanut, when it is added to a stir-fry pan, is enough to roast them sufficiently. There is something about the fresh cooking of the nuts that makes this particular brittle superior.

Just melted sugar poured over roasting peanuts will make a pleasant brittle, and this will be superior if the already cooked peanuts have been coarsely ground. This may be the famous French nougat, which is kept warm with a special heater, and rolled into all sorts of fancy shapes like bows and fans and, statue-like things, as well as cups and saucers, chairs, etc. It has ground almonds instead of the peanuts.

It is a nice little trick to melt sugar. The man must have a thick bottom. A wooden spoon is best for the constant stirring. Keep the spoon end away from the hottest part of the unmelting brittle to that part. Do not brown.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

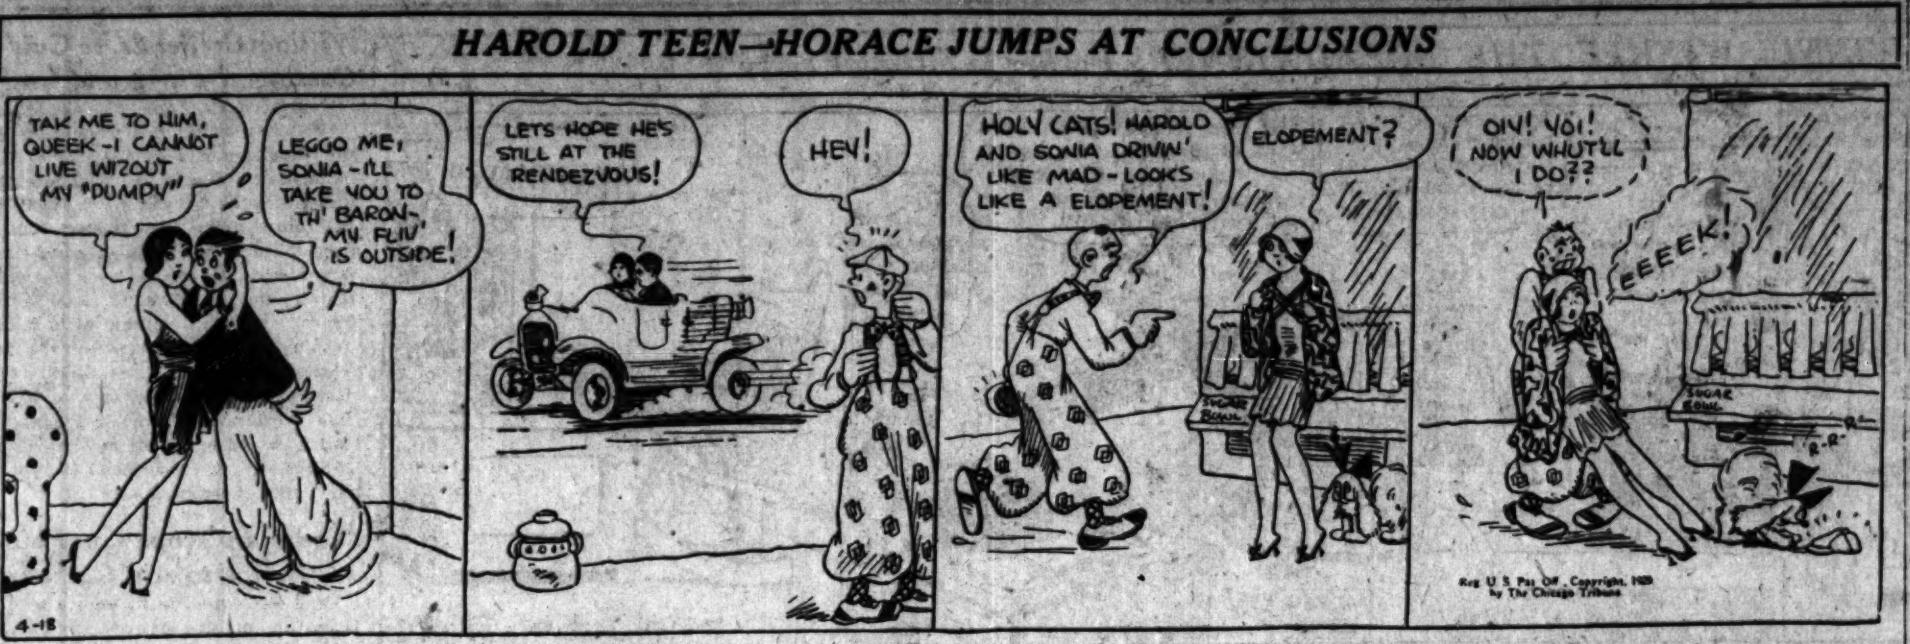

Roses are not used as much as they could be in the permanent landscaping work around homes in this region. There is a place for one or more rose bushes in almost every suburban yard and in many city yards. They can be used over arbors, on trellises, on porch posts, and over doorways.

Many good growers consider spring the best time to set rose bushes. Harrison's rose is a good one to train over entrances. The Dorothy Perkins is effectively used over rustic arches, and the prairie rose, native south of here, is also enough for this section. It makes a good rose on porches with redodendron plants at the foundation to give contrast.

According to national garden bureaus rose specialists, the hybrid tea and hybrid perpetuals, in red, yellow, white, and every imaginable blend of these colors, are hardy and go well in the garden. The polyantha or dwarf types are recommended for supplementary border use. The exotic tea roses are not available for general use in northern gardens because of climatic conditions.

The bureau advises using the bush type rose for lawn or general shrub border planting, including the wild roses, such as rose blanda, canina, spinosissima, carolina, lucida, and nitida. The climbing or trailing sorts are often valuable for the facing effect on banks or terrace slopes. Among these are the rose steigera, multiflora, wulfiana, rubiginosa, and their hybrids.

Copies of "Flower Gardening," The Tribune's new sixty-six page booklet, written by Frank Ridgway, are on sale at The Tribune public service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and The Tribune lobby, for 15 cents, 15 cents by mail.

The Rear of the Frock Is Smart as the Front

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—To be a backward child in fashion's class is to show the utmost precocity. For, as we cannot say too emphatically or too frequently, it is the back of the frock which at present assumes much of the responsibility for the movement or the decorative effect attained. Of course, this is above all, true of the evening gown, but the daytime costume does all it can to follow that lead.

For example, changing as today's fashions do, from the front to the back, the claim to originality is presented by the movement of the plait in the back. Starting at the collar, where it is very narrow, a panel of plait descends to the waistline. There below the narrow belt, it divides and becomes a ruffle encircling the skirt. A second plaited ruffle overlaps the plaited bottom of the skirt in a three-tiered effect.

Brown crepe dresses the frock with a band of tan executing the flat collar and floating ends in the back. Tan is used, also for the stitched belt buckled belt. Two-toned pumps of brown and tan are worn with tan stockings and the close fitting hat may be either of brown or tan as preference dictates. The costume is from Germaine Lecomte.

Close-ups of the makers of face creams have a decided influence on the market. This season to get us all as sunburned as possible. True, many hats have brims. But these, instead of shading the forehead, turn back as likely as not to show a facing of felt and then kindly descend at one side to protect one's ear from being sun-kissed. The brim which is crushed up in front by means of crimping or knotting is one of the special features of the new hats in babies and for the street ensemble. The small turban seems to outrival all other shapes.

My wife had written on a slip of paper a list of articles she desired me to get at the drug store. Thinking I'd saved her, I handed the list to the drug clerk at the counter in one of the drug's busiest drug counters.

The clerk looked the list over and then made motions with his hands, directing me to the counter opposite. I was terribly embarrassed in front of all the other customers, for the clerk had thought I was deaf and dumb.

I thanked him and then he was embarrassed. W. G.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS

This design will help create a slender appearance. It is cleverly cut, with seaming at either side of the bodice that follows the lines of the figure and has a tendency to break the width. The surplus crossed fronts with side button trim create a panel effect that is carried down in the skirt through the grouped plaited either side of the center. Printed and plain silk crepe will make up attractively.

The pattern, No. 2597, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 40 inch material, with ¾ yard of 32 inch contrasting.

Doris Tells Fellow to Go His Girl One Better in Temper Fit

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Why he should sign himself "Athet" is hard to understand. He hasn't lost faith in his divinity, though she has a feverish temper. Maybe he expects to lose faith in everything before long because of the way that girl of his is acting.

Anyways, she ordered him home a week ago. Told him she hoped never to have her eyesight strained with sight of him again. He stayed away four evenings. On the fifth it was too much to ask, so he called her up. Then she "bawled" him out for not seeing her. A lot he cared, she scolded, if he would let four days go by—etc., etc.

The creatures are strange, says he, selfish at times, but O, so gentle and kind at others. She is easily hurt herself, but lord what cutting things she can be.

"I never doubt that she loves me—but women are queer, aren't they? We both had tempers, so I threw mine away. That's why we never fight."

When you're handling a bad-tempered lady, maybe it wouldn't be such a poor idea to give her a bit of her own medicine. It's often a most effective way of letting bad-tempered ones see themselves as others see them.

I know a woman who seemed the soul of devilishness. She "Yeed" her husband until he grew impatient. One day he started in to wreck the house. He'd only got to his first chair, which landed unbroken in an opposite corner of the room. She lifted the piano stool and, as a wrecker, so far outshone her mate that he burst out laughing and all was soon sweet harmony again.

Perhaps one good flareup might bring the young woman to terms. Any way, when you're in "close alliance with an unscrupulous customer you've got to be on the opposite of a doorman. You've got to assess your rights before she gets the idea confirmed that you haven't any."

The creatures are strange, all right, but they're never so strange as when a man lets them walk all over him. The reason is that they deeply resent that kind of man. They want to feel the strong arm of authority more than they want to deal it. It's the nature of the critter, and she can't help it.
